Youngstown Racketeer, Woman Slain

Naples, 50, Girl Friend Are Victims

Known Hoodlums Ordered Picked Up Following Ambush

YOUNGSTOWN — A Youngstown gambling rackets figure and a young woman on whom he was calling were killed from ambush Friday night by blasts from a shotgun.

S. Joseph (Sandy) Naples, 50, died from wounds in the chest and head but not before he fired six revolver shots at his killer.

Miss Mary Ann Vrancich, 28, who was on her porch to greet Naples when he arrived about 11:35 p. m., was hit in the left chest. She died moments after arriving at South Side Hospital.

Capt. William R. Golden of Youngstown police said a shotgun was found near the curb in front of the house. He added he thought it likely one of Naples' shots might have struck the killer.

Golden put out an immediate order to pick up all known hoodlums and numbers racketeers on sight.

Naples was regarded by Youngstown police as the No. 2 man in Mahoning County gambling rackets. He served a six-month sentence for gambling in 1958, and in 1957 a $60,000 home he was building was dynamited. He was wounded in a 1949 shooting here.

Miss Vrancich, who lived with her widowed mother, had been Naples' girl friend for a long time, police said. He went to her home Friday night carrying a bag of sandwiches from the Center Sandwich Shop which he operated.

When the shooting began, Stanley Novak, who lives three houses from the Vrancich home, ran out on his porch.

"I saw this guy shooting," Novak said. "I didn't know what was going on. At first I thought it was the police.

"This man shot from the sidewalk toward the front door as they started to walk in.

"The girl hollered: 'Please help me and call police.'

"I hollered back: 'I already did.'

"I didn't get a good look at the man. And I didn't hear any car start up. He just seemed to come from between the two houses and start shooting. Then he ducked behind the house again."

Naples apparently was struck by two shotgun blasts from behind before he whirled around and began firing back. He crouched behind a porch railing and emptied his pistol while mortally wounded. Miss Vrancich was lying beside his body on the porch when police arrived.

Capt. Golden said seven 45-caliber revolver shells also were found and that it appeared an accomplice of the man with the shotgun had also been firing. None of the revolver slugs struck either Naples or the woman. The captain thought a third man was assigned to the gangland - style execution as driver of a getaway car.

Salk To Leave Pitt; Plans Research Center

PITTSBURGH — Dr. Jonas E. Salk, anti-polio serum developer, announced Friday he will leave the University of Pittsburgh.

He will set up and direct an independent scientific "institute for the advancement of knowledge relating to the health and well-being of man through research."

Initially, the new Salk institute reportedly will have $20,000,000 worth of financial support from the National Foundation over a ten-year period.

NF, formerly the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and its president, Basil O'Connor, are expected to play an important role in the new undertaking.

Dr. Salk is not expected to leave Pitt formally until the summer of 1961.

Singer Mario Lanza's Widow Is Found Dead

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Singer Mario Lanza's widow, once known as Hollywood's most patient wife because of her late husband's stormy antics, died Friday.

A maid found the pajama-clad body of Betty Lanza in bed in her rented mansion. Police say the 37-year-old widow apparently died of natural causes.

Her brother, Bert Hicks, said she died "of a broken heart."

"She never recovered from Mario's loss," he said. "Her life seemed empty."

Pioneer V Spins Toward Destined Orbiting Of Sun

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pioneer V hurtled on through the silent reaches of space today, heading for its destined place as a tiny new sister planet between Earth Venus.

By 8 a.m. EST, 24 hours after launching, it was estimated to be about 187,150 miles from earth. By 3 p.m. this afternoon, it would cross the moon's orbit around the earth, about 232,000 miles out. Then it will plunge onward in its five-month trip to an orbit around the sun.

The 26-inch sphere is packed with cunningly miniaturized scientific instruments, already sending to earth a wealth of important new information on what it's like out there. Someday men may follow it.

Every hour or so, on command from stations on earth, one of the satellite's two radios switches on, sends back the loud clear signal for 15 minutes, and then is switched off by a man standing back here on terra firma. This is done to conserve the sun-powered batteries.

Pioneer V is the third man-made thing to be hurled into a planet-like orbit around the sun. The brilliant success of its Thor-Able launching rocket and the evidence that everything aboard is in perfect working order gave America's beleaguered space scientists a tremendous boost in self-esteem after watching the Soviet Union's startling feats of space-craft.

Pioneer V is the first satellite to be fired toward an orbit inside the earth's. After it falls into its endless race around the sun —its orbit will touch the earth's and swing to within about seven million miles of Venus' smaller orbit. It's "year" around the sun will be about 311 days.

The new space probe's second radio is a powerful 150-watt ultra high frequency job designed to send back to earth from as far as 50 million miles away.

Even in later years, when Pioneer V swings back that close to earth, scientists hope to be able to trigger this big radio again and establish contact. This could happen in 1963.

The 150-watter won't be turned on until the probe is about five million miles out, about a month from now.

This will be by far the longest distance in space covered by man-made radio transmission, either Soviet or American. The previous record was set by the 13-pound Pioneer IV, which even now is circling the sun. Its radio faded out at 407,000 miles away.

NATO Okays West Plan On Disarmament

Will Be Presented To Soviet Bloc Next Tuesday In Geneva

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic council today approved the five-power Western disarmament plan which will be presented to the Soviet bloc next week. The 10-nation East-West disarmament conference opens in Geneva Tuesday.

A NATO spokesman said the council had given its "complete sympathy and entire support to the Western plan."

The plan was drawn up earlier this week by disarmament experts for the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy. The NATO council discussed it at a special meeting today, with Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada acting as spokesman for the five powers.

The United States was reported unofficially to have agreed to slash its armed forces to 2,100,000 men if the Soviet Union does the same.

Informed sources said the manpower ceiling would be a highlight of a three-part scheme proposed to the Communist bloc for reducing military forces and ending the nuclear weapons race.

The United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy have been working out differences to present a united front at Geneva.

The Western plan calls for three main stages.

600 Families Are Isolated After Storms

Hard Freeze, Snow Plague Efforts Of Rescuers In South

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A hard freeze in the wake of a March snow storm plagued military and civilian rescue teams today in their dogged efforts to reach isolated families in North Carolina and Georgia.

Thousands more, dazed by nature's freakish series of severe weather blows to the Southland, dug their way out of drifts that piled to a height of several feet in mountainous areas of Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, the Carolinas and Virginia.

The giant late-winter storm headed out to sea Friday after dumping unprecedented amounts of March snow on the stricken states. It was the third big storm of the month.

The snow depth increased by eight inches in the northwestern tip of North Carolina and slowed relief teams seeking to rescue some 600 snowbound families. Some counties in the area have had more than 50 inches of snow since Feb. 11.

Helicopters, half-tracks, weasels and other military vehicles are being used in the struggle to get relief to these areas.

Some North Carolina folk were using lumber from the sides of their houses for fuel.

Norman H. McHenry, 67, Dies After Sudden Illness

Norman H. McHenry, past president of the Potters Lumber Co. and affiliates, died suddenly this morning at his home, 401 W. 6th St. He was 67.

Mr. McHenry, who retired in July 1958, as head of the firm, visited its headquarters in Calcutta Friday. He became ill after arising this morning and died a short time later.

He was born in East Liverpool May 11, 1892, the son of the late Harvey and Alexia Hanley McHenry. His father was one of the founders of the lumber firm.

Educated in East Liverpool schools, Mr. McHenry went to work for the firm in 1912, the year it was founded, as a carpenter. He was elected president in 1954.

He was a member of the Municipal Civil Service Commission from 1936 to 1940 and was a director and chairman of the building com-

$100,000 LOSS SET IN FIRE AT WEIRTON

Ventilating System Fails In Coal Pit

Setback Suffered By Rescuers In Efforts To Save 18 Miners

LOGAN, W. Va. (AP)—Rescue crews, working feverishly to reach 18 miners entombed since Tuesday, suffered an agonizing setback today when a new ventilating system failed to clear passageways of deadly fumes.

Officials of Island Creek Coal Co. and Crawford L. Wilson, state mines chief who is directing the rescue operation, said it would be 10 to 24 hours more before additional underground construction work is completed.

"We have met with some disappointment in our plan of reversing the air flow over the fire area," Wilson told a predawn press conference. "But we are continuing with plans to reach the area where the miners are presumed to be located."

Smoke and gases, along with intense heat from the smoldering coal fire, have thwarted rescuers for four days. The fate of the men is not known, but mine officials believe they had time to barricade themselves off half a mile from the fire.

Four passageways, covering an area of about 200 feet, were blocked off in an operation which got under way Friday morning. Four galvanized steel pipes were installed, two to draw fumes out and two to pump fresh air into the area where the entombed men are believed to be.

When the new ventilation system was tested early today, officials decided it did not establish the air flow necessary to make the area safe for rescue teams.

Work immediately was begun to block off the remaining four passageways with canvas, timber, and cinder blocks. The ventilation system already installed continued to operate.

Wilson said the work done so far "is not conclusive but is inclusive in the over-all program. Our lines are holding, we haven't lost any ground."

The ventilation system is bypassing the 200-foot long fire area, which is now pretty well contained.

Teams of weary, begrimed men —about 40 at a time and 150 in all—have been struggling around the clock against what the veteran coal diggers call "hell's fire."

The accident happened soon after the day shift reported for work Tuesday at the Holden 22 mine seven miles southwest of here. Apparently a slate fall ripped an electric line, igniting timbers, coal and slate.

More slate falls roared down until a 200-foot long mass of smoldering fire was heaped up in the main tunnel.

Chester Man Injured, Run Over By Own Car

A Chester area man is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when his own car ran over him Friday night about 11:25, just as he arrived home from work.

Eugene Mathis, 32, of Route 30, a half mile from Chester, received shoulder, back and leg injuries when the left front wheel of his car passed over him in the driveway of his home.

The family said the car started to roll backwards as he got out after arriving home from the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. Mathis grabbed the car door in an effort to get in and halt it but was thrown under the wheel.

The family said he was dragged about the length of the car before his brother - in - law, John Coble of Route 30, was able to get in and set the brake. Coble had arrived to visit the family.

BLAZE HITS WEIRTON. Clouds of smoke arise from a burning section of the 3000 block in Weirton where 5 business establishments were damaged last night. Firemen play streams of water on the flaming ruins in the picture. The interior scene of the Hi-Lo Bar shows some of the extensive damage. Fire Chief John Ferguson set the loss at $100,000. Eight fire companies from 2 states fought the blaze over 4 hours.

Dixie House Members Eye Rights Block

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern House members are bracing themselves for an attempt next week to complete the Senate's action in knocking out a major point of the civil rights bill.

Supporters of the measure said they could block such a move.

The Southerners may get their chance to try Monday. Both the House and Senate were in recess today.

The section involved—still in the House bill and therefore still alive —would make it a federal crime to interfere by force or threats with enforcement of a federal court school integration order.

In a quick one-two Friday, the Senate first adopted an amendment offered by Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) to broaden the section to apply to injunctions in labor cases and all other federal court orders.

Then some strong supporters of the civil rights bill teamed up with some Southerners to kill the whole section. Labor groups were strongly opposed to having the section apply to labor injunctions.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said, "The Senate has demonstrated again that reason prevails and that it will reject the extremists. I believe now, as I have all along, that the Senate will pass a good moderate bill."

Boy Injured, Struck By Car

Youngster Darts Into Street Near Home

A 6-year-old city boy is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when police said he ran into the path of an auto on E. 3rd St. near his home Friday night.

Robert (Buddy) George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert George, 307 Washington St., was admitted to the hospital with lacerations of the scalp and abrasions and contusions of the forehead.

Police said the youngster was struck by a car driven by David A. Oyster, 21, of 648 Riley Ave.

Oyster told police he was headed east about 20-25 miles an hour when the boy darted from the north to the south side of E. 3rd St. The driver said he applied his brakes at the same time he saw the boy run in front of the left fender of his car.

The mishap occurred about 30 feet west of the Washington St. intersection, police reported.

A collision at 6:07 p. m. yesterday at St. George and Mulberry Sts. damaged a 1959 sports car driven by Barbara L. McDaniel, 29, of 973 Ohio Ave. and a car operated by Hal Hamlet, 31, of 556 Railroad St., police reported.

Mrs. McDaniel said she didn't see the other car coming until she pulled out of the intersection.

5 Business Places And 2 Houses Hit

2 Firemen Receive Burns; 25 Boarding Home Patrons Flee

WEIRTON — A spectacular fire fed by natural gas in its early stages caused heavy damage to five business establishments, two houses and two private garages, sent two firemen and a woman to the hospital and knocked out telephone and electric service in Weirton Friday night.

Fire Chief John Ferguson today estimated the damage at $100,000. He added the fire would have destroyed an entire city block if help had not come from neighboring fire companies.

Firemen from 8 cities and towns battled the flames for more than 4 hours in the 3000 block of Main St., which fronts on West Virginia State Route 2, before bringing them under control.

Thousands of spectators, attracted by the flames which at times reached 50 feet into the air, hampered firemen along with subfreezing temperatures.

Traffic was snarled for hours until it was re-routed through the city. Telephone service was being restored today.

It was Weirton's worst fire since 1957.

Chief Ferguson said he believes the fire originated in a frame rooming house in an alley between Main and West Sts. Firemen attributed the spread of the flames to adjacent buildings to their inability to turn off natural gas which turned the flames into a roaring inferno.

Business establishments damaged by the fire which broke out before 11 last night were the Barbeque Restaurant, the Hi-Lo Bar operated by Mary Payne; Frank's Duquesne Bar, operated by Frank Crisi; Stanley's Barber Shop, owned by Stanley Zaper, and a vacant storeroom owned by the Divich family.

Some 25 to 30 boarders escaped from the rooming house where firemen believe the blaze started. The Red Cross planned to aid the displaced roomers.

Mrs. Payne, identified as the owner of the rooming house and three of the business buildings, was admitted to the Weirton General Hospital for treatment of shock. She and her family occupied one of the houses which was destroyed.

Fire companies from Weirton, Weirton Heights, Newell, New Cumberland, Steubenville, Hooverson Heights, Wellsburg and Follansbee rushed to the scene.

Two Weirton firemen were injured. Fireman John Bright was treated at the hospital for second and third degree burns suffered when he fell through a floor of one of the buildings. Witnesses said Bright believed a woman was trapped in the building and he rushed in in an attempt to save her. He was treated for first and second degree burns but later returned to duty.

John Bribt, a member of Weirton department No. 1, was burned on the arms and hands. He was rushed to the hospital, treated, and then returned to the scene.

Ten firemen from Newell were at the scene along with about a dozen from New Cumberland. Ev-

West Virginia Man Admits Slaying 2 Girls

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP)—A 29-year-old gunsmith was arrested today and charged with murdering two young girls who had minded his children.

Police said Henry C. Warth admitted shooting to death Penny Qualls, 13, and her cousin, Linda Qualls, 12.

Home Appeals To Be Started By Red Cross

Nearly 300 women volunteers in the Residential Division of the $15,982 Red Cross fund drive will begin a four-day canvass Sunday of approximately 9,000 homes.

Twenty districts, including suburban areas, have been set up with captains assigned to each.

Headed by Mrs. Carl Mack, chairman, and Mrs. Austen Moore, assistant chairman, the unit hopes to complete its rounds in four days. Final reports are scheduled at Red Cross headquarters by Thursday.

James Locke, campaign chairman, said a quota of $2,000 has been set for the division and asked for a "generous response from all".

Captains serving in the Residential Division are: Park Blvd., Mrs. S. C. Porter Jr. and Mrs. Richard Martin; Taft School, Mrs. Jack Hales and Mrs. Ernest Bates; Horace Mann, Mrs. Earl Kidder and Mrs. Donald Arrington; Klondyke, Mrs. Howard Tullis and Mrs. Anthony Leon; Beechwood, Mrs. Ralph Twyford and Mrs. Robert Lytton Jr.

The family said the car started to roll backwards as he got out after arriving home from the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. Mathis grabbed the car door in an effort to get in and halt it but was thrown under the wheel.

The family said he was dragged about the length of the car before his brother - in - law, John Coble of Route 30, was able to get in and set the brake. Coble had arrived to visit the family.

BLAZE HITS WEIRTON. Clouds of smoke arise from a burning section of the 3000 block in Weirton where 5 business establishments were damaged last night. Firemen play streams of water on the flaming ruins in the picture. The interior scene of the Hi-Lo Bar shows some of the extensive damage. Fire Chief John Ferguson set the loss at $100,000. Eight fire companies from 2 states fought the blaze over 4 hours.

5 Business Places And 2 Houses Hit

2 Firemen Receive Burns; 25 Boarding Home Patrons Flee

WEIRTON — A spectacular fire fed by natural gas in its early stages caused heavy damage to five business establishments, two houses and two private garages, sent two firemen and a woman to the hospital and knocked out telephone and electric service in Weirton Friday night.

Fire Chief John Ferguson today estimated the damage at $100,000. He added the fire would have destroyed an entire city block if help had not come from neighboring fire companies.

Firemen from 8 cities and towns battled the flames for more than 4 hours in the 3000 block of Main St., which fronts on West Virginia State Route 2, before bringing them under control.

Thousands of spectators, attracted by the flames which at times reached 50 feet into the air, hampered firemen along with subfreezing temperatures.

Traffic was snarled for hours until it was re-routed through the city. Telephone service was being restored today.

It was Weirton's worst fire since 1957.

Chief Ferguson said he believes the fire originated in a frame rooming house in an alley between Main and West Sts. Firemen attributed the spread of the flames to adjacent buildings to their inability to turn off natural gas which turned the flames into a roaring inferno.

Business establishments damaged by the fire which broke out before 11 last night were the Barbeque Restaurant, the Hi-Lo Bar operated by Mary Payne; Frank's Duquesne Bar, operated by Frank Crisi; Stanley's Barber Shop, owned by Stanley Zaper, and a vacant storeroom owned by the Divich family.

Some 25 to 30 boarders escaped from the rooming house where firemen believe the blaze started. The Red Cross planned to aid the displaced roomers.

Mrs. Payne, identified as the owner of the rooming house and three of the business buildings, was admitted to the Weirton General Hospital for treatment of shock. She and her family occupied one of the houses which was destroyed.

Fire companies from Weirton, Weirton Heights, Newell, New Cumberland, Steubenville, Hooverson Heights, Wellsburg and Follansbee rushed to the scene.

Two Weirton firemen were injured. Fireman John Bright was treated at the hospital for second and third degree burns suffered when he fell through a floor of one of the buildings. Witnesses said Bright believed a woman was trapped in the building and he rushed in in an attempt to save her. He was treated for first and second degree burns but later returned to duty.

John Bribt, a member of Weirton department No. 1, was burned on the arms and hands. He was rushed to the hospital, treated, and then returned to the scene.

Ten firemen from Newell were at the scene along with about a dozen from New Cumberland. Ev-

Dixie House Members Eye Rights Block

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern House members are bracing themselves for an attempt next week to complete the Senate's action in knocking out a major point of the civil rights bill.

Supporters of the measure said they could block such a move.

The Southerners may get their chance to try Monday. Both the House and Senate were in recess today.

The section involved—still in the House bill and therefore still alive —would make it a federal crime to interfere by force or threats with enforcement of a federal court school integration order.

In a quick one-two Friday, the Senate first adopted an amendment offered by Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) to broaden the section to apply to injunctions in labor cases and all other federal court orders.

Then some strong supporters of the civil rights bill teamed up with some Southerners to kill the whole section. Labor groups were strongly opposed to having the section apply to labor injunctions.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said, "The Senate has demonstrated again that reason prevails and that it will reject the extremists. I believe now, as I have all along, that the Senate will pass a good moderate bill."

Boy Injured, Struck By Car

Youngster Darts Into Street Near Home

A 6-year-old city boy is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with injuries suffered when police said he ran into the path of an auto on E. 3rd St. near his home Friday night.

Robert (Buddy) George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert George, 307 Washington St., was admitted to the hospital with lacerations of the scalp and abrasions and contusions of the forehead.

Police said the youngster was struck by a car driven by David A. Oyster, 21, of 648 Riley Ave.

Oyster told police he was headed east about 20-25 miles an hour when the boy darted from the north to the south side of E. 3rd St. The driver said he applied his brakes at the same time he saw the boy run in front of the left fender of his car.

The mishap occurred about 30 feet west of the Washington St. intersection, police reported.

A collision at 6:07 p. m. yesterday at St. George and Mulberry Sts. damaged a 1959 sports car driven by Barbara L. McDaniel, 29, of 973 Ohio Ave. and a car operated by Hal Hamlet, 31, of 556 Railroad St., police reported.

Mrs. McDaniel said she didn't see the other car coming until she pulled out of the intersection.

Winner Gets Truck Order

The Board of Control today awarded a contract to Wimmer Motor Sales for purchase of a 1960 GMC half-ton truck for the incinerator department on its offer of $1,975, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet said.

The mayor and Safety-Service Director Lee Copenhaver, who comprise the board, had been studying bids from five firms before accepting the Wimmer offer.

In awarding the contract, Mayor Goodballet said the firm has promised delivery within a few days and said the GMC truck was recommended by Incinerator Supt. James L. McKinnon.

The truck has a heavy duty clutch, full cab window, tube-type tires and the spare tire is mounted on the side rather than underneath the bed, the mayor said.

The offer was the lowest of two submitted by Wimmer's and the second highest of six recieved. Wimmer's offered another model at $2,035.

The other bidders and prices were Mackall Motors, $1,772; Parsons Sales & Service, $1,795.86; Mike Turk, Inc., $1,825, and Carroll Motor Sales, $1,934.20.

Wellsville Fund Drive Scheduled To Start Monday

The 1960 Red Cross Fund drive, with a goal of $2,595, will open Monday, under the leadership of Fred Baldasarre and Mr. Jack A. Lanam, co - chairmen.

District captains have been appointed and supplied with materials. Their workers will be armed with all the necessary information and supplies. Every effort will be made to cover the city within a week so that all funds collected may be turned in to officers on Sunday, March 20, at Daw Junior High School.

In addition to the house - to-house solicitation, business will be covered by Myron Weis of the Wesco Manufacturing Co. The Wellsville schools campaign is being set up by Supt. S. E. Daw and special gifts by the co-chairmen.

Of the total collected, 34.3 per cent will remain in Wellsville to cover the cost of communications between servicemen and their families in training centers and overseas, programs of first aid and home nursing and for emergency welfare work in assisting servicemen and their families.

The National Red Cross will get 65.7 per cent for disaster relief all over the world.

City's NAACP To Join Lunch Stand Protest

The city branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Thursday night made plans to protest through an East Liverpool chain store the segregated lunch counter practices in the South.

The "chain-of-command" protest action will be requested of the Woolworth store manager by a committee headed by Caesar Peters, president of the branch. The plan calls for the committee to request the store manager to ask his general manager that the chain change its policies of segregating seating facilities in its stores in the South.

Southern Negroes presently are campaigning through demonstrations and sit-down strikes to obtain equal seating facilities.

In other business conducted by Peters, it was announced the chapter will observe National Freedom Week May 15-21.

Miss Joyce Lincoln, an East Liverpool High School senior, was crowned "Miss NAACP" for winning a fund-raising contest. She was crowned by Miss. Dorothy Pope of Midland, 1959 winner.

Miss Rose Roach was runnerup, while Miss June Singleton won third. The winner received a share of the funds she solicitated for NAACP activities. Mrs. Shirley Hayes was chairman.

The program included a solo, "A City Called Heaven," by Miss Singleton. Joe Thompson, youth branch president, talked on accomplishments of the NAACP.

Fire

ery available Weirton policeman and fireman was sent to the fire when it appeared the blaze might spread southward to the thriving Weirton business district. Firemen evacuated residents from several blocks in that area.

Many Weirton residents shivered through the night without electrical service to operate their heating appliances. Power was off in the major part of the city.

The first alarm was received by the Weirton department at 9:10 p. m. and the first firemen to arrive found the Payne house engulfed in flames.

They turned their attention to saving nearby structures but when the gas-fed flames spread to the business block, a general alarm was sent out for additional help.

City's NAACP To Join Lunch Stand Protest

The city branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Thursday night made plans to protest through an East Liverpool chain store the segregated lunch counter practices in the South.

The "chain-of-command" protest action will be requested of the Woolworth store manager by a committee headed by Caesar Peters, president of the branch. The plan calls for the committee to request the store manager to ask his general manager that the chain change its policies of segregating seating facilities in its stores in the South.

Southern Negroes presently are campaigning through demonstrations and sit-down strikes to obtain equal seating facilities.

In other business conducted by Peters, it was announced the chapter will observe National Freedom Week May 15-21.

Miss Joyce Lincoln, an East Liverpool High School senior, was crowned "Miss NAACP" for winning a fund-raising contest. She was crowned by Miss. Dorothy Pope of Midland, 1959 winner.

Miss Rose Resch was runnerup, while Miss June Singleton won third. The winner received a share of the funds she solicitated for NAACP activities. Mrs. Shirley Hayes was chairman.

The program included a solo, "A City Called Heaven," by Miss Singleton. Joe Thompson, youth branch president, talked on accomplishments of the NAACP.

Fire

ery available Weirton policeman and fireman was sent to the fire when it appeared the blaze might spread southward to the thriving Weirton business district. Firemen evacuated residents from several blocks in that area.

Many Weirton residents shivered through the night without electrical service to operate their heating appliances. Power was off in the major part of the city.

The first alarm was received by the Weirton department at 9:10 p. m. and the first firemen to arrive found the Payne house engulfed in flames.

They turned their attention to saving nearby structures but when the gas-fed flames spread to the business block, a general alarm was sent out for additional help.

Through Red Cross, your dollars help thousands to smile again

How much is a smile worth?

Last year, 2 million volunteers gave their time, their energy, their talent—all for the smile of people who needed help . . . perhaps you were one of them.

Think of it this way. Because you gave through Red Cross in 1959, many good things happened—you helped bring food, clothing, shelter and medical aid to more than 86,800 people in disasters . . . you were a friend in times of crisis to thousands of servicemen and their families . . . you helped bring a smile back to the faces of countless neighbors and their children.

Good things happen when you give

Hair Expert Here Tomorrow

Before Erickson Treatment — A Few Months Later

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for the Erickson free hair and scalp examination and regrew his hair.

BASIC PRINCIPLE OF HAIR LOSS AND GROWTH REVEALED BY EXPERT

LOUISVILLE — Erickson new home treatment methods for growing thicker hair—and preventing baldness—will be demonstrated in East Liverpool, Ohio, Sunday, March 13.

Staff Director Mr. J. M. Botkins, representing the Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists organization, will be in charge. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 to 8:30 P. M. at the Travelers Hotel.

20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

The Erickson organization has over 20 years of combined experience studying and correcting-hair problems.

For example, in the past two years alone over a half-million Erickson treatments were used. Almost every minute of every wakening hour every day, some one is realizing the benefits that are derived from the Erickson treatment which is applied in the privacy of their own homes.

Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists, active in over 400 cities, are responsible for more home scalp treatments than all major hair specialists combined.

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

Before After

Harvey Lee James of Pine Hill, N. C., shows results in a few months.

From the Erickson "Know-How" and experience has grown the scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Erickson Home Treatment. We cannot help men or women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss, and the Erickson treatment is of no value to male pattern baldness. But, if you still have "fuzz" and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least try to save and thicken what you have. Some conditions such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over - oiliness, dryness — can usually benefit, by Erickson Home Treatment if caught before "hair factories" are destroyed.

97% SATISFIED

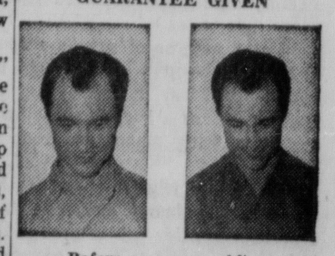
Actually our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim, because we have less than 3 per cent requesting a refund. We are proud of this outstanding record. You, too, will agree this is an excellent showing when you consider that almost every person is a "putter-offer" or "doubter" where hair is concerned. Getting "doubters" and "putter-offers" to come in for an examination is really the problem.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you're worried about your hair, drop by the Travelers Hotel, Sunday between 1 and 8:30 P. M. and see Mr. J. M. Botkins. Examination is free and without obligation.

The first problem, when you come in for examination, is to detemine if the Erickson treatment will benefit you. If so, you will be supplied with the proper Erickson treatment. We tell you what to do and what not to do; how long your treatments will last; what results you can expect; how much your cost will be. It is usually less than imitators. Hopeless cases are refused.

12 MONTHS WRITTEN GUARANTEE GIVEN

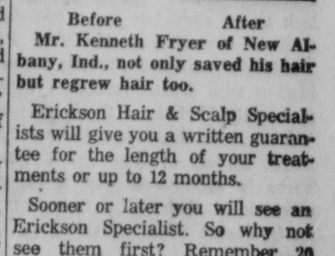


Before After

Mrs. Virginia Barnes of Edwardsport, Ind., shows her results by Erickson Treatments.

Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists will give you a written guarantee for the length of your treatments or up to 12 months.

Sooner or later you will see an Erickson Specialist. So why not see them first? Remember 20 years experience, 12 month guarantee, free examination, regular check-ups, the largest scalp specialists for home treatments.



Before After

Mr. Kenneth Fryer of New Albany, Ind., not only saved his hair but regrew hair too.

See Mr. J. M. Botkins at the Travelers Hotel, Sunday, March 13, between 1 and 8:30 P.M. only in East Liverpool, Ohio.

You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are free and given in private.

Another 245 women volunteers have been recruited by these district captains to serve in this fourth phase in the Red Cross fund campaign. An identifying list of all these workers serving in this division appears in today's Red Cross advertisement sponsored by a group of local businesses.

The Advance Gifts Division led off the campaign which opened March 1 and their work of contacting some 165 larger donors is nearly completed.

The Professional Division was next to swing into action, followed by the Business Division, which began calling on employes in the city's 400 establishments last Monday.

Campaign leaders today expressed satisfaction with the progress of the drive thus far, but said that reports from workers are as yet too scattered to predict ultimate results.

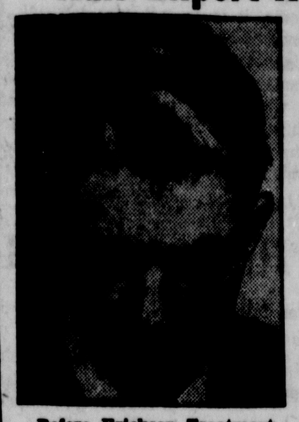
Hair Expert Here Tomorrow



Before Erickson Treatment — A Few Months Later

Mr. T. A. Melton, Jr., of Hollidaysburg, Pa. (above) gave about 20 minutes of his time for the Erickson free hair and scalp examination and regrew his hair.

BASIC PRINCIPLE OF HAIR LOSS AND GROWTH REVEALED BY EXPERT

LOUISVILLE — Erickson new home treatment methods for growing thicker hair—and preventing baldness—will be demonstrated in East Liverpool, Ohio, Sunday, March 13.

Staff Director Mr. J. M. Botkins, representing the Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists organization, will be in charge. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 to 8:30 P. M. at the Travelers Hotel.

20 YEARS EXPERIENCE

The Erickson organization has over 20 years of combined experience studying and correcting-hair problems.

For example, in the past two years alone over a half-million Erickson treatments were used. Almost every minute of every wakening hour every day, some one is realizing the benefits that are derived from the Erickson treatment which is applied in the privacy of their own homes.

Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists, active in over 400 cities, are responsible for more home scalp treatments than all major hair specialists combined.

WHO CAN BE HELPED?

Before — After

Harvey Lee James of Pine Hill, N. C., shows results in a few months.

From the Erickson "Know-How" and experience has grown the scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Erickson Home Treatment. We cannot help men or women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair loss, and the Erickson treatment is of no value to male pattern baldness. But, if you still have "fuzz" and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least try to save and thicken what you have. Some conditions such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over - oiliness, dryness — can usually benefit, by Erickson Home Treatment if caught before "hair factories" are destroyed.

97% SATISFIED

Actually our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim, because we have less than 3 per cent requesting a refund. We are proud of this outstanding record. You, too, will agree this is an excellent showing when you consider that almost every person is a "putter-offer" or "doubter" where hair is concerned. Getting "doubters" and "putter-offers" to come in for an examination is really the problem.

Before — After

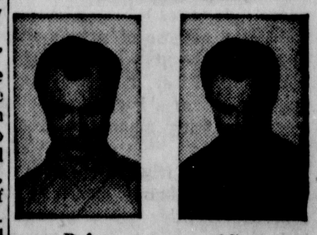
Mrs. Virginia Barnes of Edwardsport, Ind., shows her results by Erickson Treatments.

FREE EXAMINATION

If you're worried about your hair, drop by the Travelers Hotel, Sunday between 1 and 8:30 P. M. and see Mr. J. M. Botkins. Examination is free and without obligation.

The first problem, when you come in for examination, is to detemine if the Erickson treatment will benefit you. If so, you will be supplied with the proper Erickson treatment. We tell you what to do and what not to do; how long your treatments will last; what results you can expect; how much your cost will be. It is usually less than imitators. Hopeless cases are refused.

12 MONTHS WRITTEN GUARANTEE GIVEN



Before — After

Mr. Kenneth Fryer of New Albany, Ind., not only saved his hair but regrew hair too.

Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists will give you a written guarantee for the length of your treatments or up to 12 months.

Sooner or later you will see an Erickson Specialist. So why not see them first? Remember 20 years experience, 12 month guarantee, free examination, regular check-ups, the largest scalp specialists for home treatments.

See Mr. J. M. Botkins at the Travelers Hotel, Sunday, March 13, between 1 and 8:30 P.M. only in East Liverpool, Ohio.

You will not be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are free and given in private.

The No-Other-Choice Committee

John C. Doerfer has resigned as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission because he had no other choice.

The House special committee on legislative oversight had nailed his hide to the barn door, as they say in politics. His further usefulness had been destroyed.

President Eisenhower gave him a choice between resigning and being forced out of his job. Resignation is the euphemism for being fired, in these situations.

The damage had been done when the commitee drew a bead on Doerfer. In the shooting gallery it operates, the targets that get serious attention are destined to be riddled before the firing starts. Doerfer's official number was up.

This is the committee that worked out on presidential assistant Sherman Adams. When it was finished, President Eisenhower's right-hand man had no choice but to get out of government. His usefulness was gone. He was riddled.

THE QUESTION raised for the American people is whether men like Adams and Doerfer are unique in the irregularities they are charged with, or whether the House special committee on legislative oversight has developed some unique way of destroying appointive officials.

The personal injustice done to Adams and which may have been done to Doerfer is overshadowed by public injustice, if it's true that these men were guilty of nothing but normal human conduct distorted by the slanted mirror of a congressional investigation.

Doerfer, for example, was friendly with people whose business affairs might have been affected by FCC rulings. Adams, it is Doerfer, for example, was friendly with people whose business affairs might have been affected by FCC rulings. Adams, it is recalled, was friendly with people who had business with the government. Both men accepted hospitality and gifts, as is the custom throughout the business community in the United States.

IT IS THE OLD question that never has been answered and never can be answered: Can a man of integrity be bought if he is not for sale?

But it now looks as i fthe question had been made unimportant by the discovery that a congressional investigation can ruin a public official by putting in the record that he did what might have influenced his decision if his decision had been open to influence.

The greatest mishap that can befall an official is to be worked over by the House special committee on legislative oversight. When it has finished, the official may have no other choice but to turn in his key and draw his pay.

Caesar's wife needed only to be above suspicion. Appointive officials, who are the special province of the committee on legislative oversight, must be above suspicion of suspicion.

Sign Language

The March issue of the Kiwanis International Magazine features one of the joint club meeting signs which grace four approaches to East Liverpool.

While the magazine editor naturally was looking at the situation through the eyes of a loyal Kiwanian, the picture serves at the same time as a plug for the community as a whole.

The signs actually represent the cooperative effort of six service organizations in addition to Kiwanis — the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Quota, Lions, Rotary, Business and Professional Women's clubs.

It was pleasing that the city itself and the various organizations concerned should receive outside recognition such as that accorded by the Kiwanis Magazine.

The signs are attractive. Every effort should be made to see that they remain that way. Too often similar projects have faded away because the interest that was there originally vanished as time went by.

Lawyers Hit It About Right

The 8-7 decision by the all-lawyer Senate judiciary committee in California's Legislature to keep capital punishment for the time being is a fair reflection of prevailing opinion.

The spreading uneasiness about the practice of destroying life under legal sanction has not become quite strong enough to justify a change of attitude. It cannot be proved tha capital punishment deters the crimes it penalizes in the various states. But caution stays the hands of those who would like to get rid of it because they find it offensive to their sense of morals.

The one argument that cannot be answered is made by law enforcement officials, who point to capital punishment as the protection they need against the mad dogs they must deal with in their dangerous work.

It goes without saying in this respect that wherever capital punishment is outlawed, the one certain effect is to tempt the policeman with a gun to use it in all situations where the culprit who has resorted to violence has no fear of being punished with a death sentence.

Every airing of the capital punishment issue shows it has not been brought to a climax of decision — not yet. There is no definite answer. Society has no solution to the problem of getting rid of its human mad dogs. Until it finds one, capital punishment will seem to be a better solution than no solution at all.

It will cause agonies of individual and collective remorse. No one will be satisfied. But as in all things that concern large numbers of people, the ultimate solution will be in the making long before it finally is confirmed in law.

The trend is plainly away from capital punishment. Juries and jurists are reluctant to support it. Public opinion is turning against it. There will be fewer cases in which it will be sought, fewer cases in which it will be inflicted. Whether there will be fewer cases in which it will be deserved is an open question. There is a possibility that disorderly society will grow ever more inhumane while orderly society grows ever more humane. More fearful than the possibility, itself, is the suspicion that the latter may be the reason for the former.

Firsthand Results

Visitors at the annual Columbiana County 4-H rally Friday night in Salem saw firsthand the results of the "Head, Heart, Hands and Health" program.

Not only the skillfully - prepared projects, but the general attitude of the county's 4-H young people testified to the achievement of club goals.

This county — which ranks third in Ohio in 4-H enrollment and was second for many years — is continuing to maintain an active and effective youth organization, educating young people and providing an ideal social environment.

In conjunction with the observance of national 4-H week, special congratulations are due the some 1,700 boys and girls and their adult leaders for following the precepts of the international club and for service to themselves, their families and their communities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

This looks like year man will at last be forced to the barricades in a revolt against women's hats. We are for a summit conference to set limits on millinery designs. And for a drastic inspection plan.

These 1960 bonnets are current top cause of belligerence, aggressions and disturbing scenes of violence. Hardly a hat doesn't harm chances of world peace. (Some of milady's lids are killing disarmament proposals.)

Every season brings disturbing influences in millinery, but this year it's impossible to look at the works of hat designers without suspecting an organized plot to foment disturbances. (There are husbands who are considering underground shelters against their wives style tastes.)

Primary purpose of a gal's chapeau is to add to her beauty; to do things FOR her not AGAINST her. It should have allure. It ought to charm a bachelor, fascinate a husband and bring admiration from the children.

Today it can frighten the entire household and make old family album portraits seem reactionary. After all a gal should never look like a candidate for a comedy spot on a Madri Gras float, or in Macy Parade.

Milady's 1960 hat situation must be met head-on with drastic measures, including appeal to the U.N. for a Committee to Protect Woman From Enslavement by Promotors of Laugh Effects at New Year's Eve parties. There is no reason why a bonnet should resemble a floor-lamp shade, an inverted waste basket ro a cover for an outboard motor.

Hardly a home in America is free from dissension and separations due to hat styles. Love is threatened. Romance is reeling. (Listen, husbands, are we men, mice or a captive audience?)

A BROKERAGE FIRM official is charged with robbing his company through "fixing" a calculating machine so it would give WRONG answers. It's disturbing to realize that even a machine can get into bad company and go astray. Maybe we need a push-button machine to watch push-button machines.

The annual flower show got transported to the Coliseum during a blizzard. A cop hailed one truck driver in the snow to demand, "Whatcha got in that truck?" He got the answer, "daffodils," and could be excused for responding with, "Wise guy, eh!"

It cost the United States $74,000 to take care of Khrushchev visit. How could you get a bigger entertainment over in these days of high costs in show business?

Castro must have his accusations against the U.S. all prepared before the event has occurred.

Jean Dalrymple, named in a group establishing pay-TV in Canada, is one of most useful gals in show world, She began as a press agent and has become an important figure in many phases of the profession.

"The Year the World Went Mad" by Allen Churchhill is great stuff if you like the nostalgic mood. The year was 1927 when Ruth hit 60 homers, Lindbergh stirred the world crossing the Atlantic alone in a flying kit, Henry Ford killed off "Lizzie" and Cal Coolidge posed for photos in a cowboy suit.

Leonard Warren, who was fatally stricken singing in a Met performance, had never done any public singing outside of Radio City Music Hall when he won auditions test 20 years ago. His was one of great success stories of opera.

Impossible events: Fidel announcing, "Let's not get excited about this. I want to be fair."

Eddie Arcaro says he may retire this year. Wanna bet?

The busiest fellow in government must be the man who nas charge of packing Ike's bags.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

"What is faith?" asked a friend during a recent conversation.

I decided to learn what great men, who lived faith or expressed its power, had to say about the subject:

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," wrote St. Paul.

"A mighty fortress is our God, A bulwark never failing . . ." penned Martin Luther.

Bach inscribed his scores of sacred music at the beginning with J.J. (Jesus, help) and at the end with S.D.G. (to God alone the glory). Michelangelo wrote, "I live and love in God's peculiar light." Shakespeare wrote, "There are no tricks in plain and simple faith."

W. E. Channing penned, "Faith is love taking the form of aspiration."

Tolstoy wrote, "Faith is the force of life."

Internal War Splits Crime Group

By Victor Riesel

APALACHIN, N.Y.

There's snow on the grill where the Mafia's crime convention once cooked out. There's grim symbolism in the white stuff covering the old Joe Barbara estate.

Victor Riesel

"Snow" is the mob's word for dope or heroin. The criminal syndicate met here just about 2 months ago to order its people to get out from under the "snow."

That order has never really been carried out. That's the news at this moment of Apalachin re-visited.

There is swift civil war in the ranks of the second government. The elders still are trying to force the younger, less wealthy members out of the "junk" business and into the safer businesses of gambling, commercial security operations, labor and industrial rackets, real estate and construction.

FEDERAL AGENCIES have tried hard to hit the narcotics holdouts on a second front. But despite heavy punishment by the mob's high command on one side and the United States on the other, there's still a multi-million dollar narcotics trade flourishing in the big cities.

Federals are convinced it will take a series of international summit meetings to cut down the dope trade.

Narcotics cost industry hundreds of millions of dollars a year in heavy taxes for the fight on dope-incited crime alone. It costs additional millions because of the effect on workers in several big industrial states.

First of the international parleys is an anti-cocaine conference in Rio de Janeiro next week. Cocaine traffic has suddenly become just as serious and dangerous as the heroin trade. The mobs are now moving in on this one. The cocaine comes mostly out of Peru and Bolivia.

This drug is far more dangerous than heroin, Federal Narcotics Bureau Chief Harry Anslinger tells me. It's far more habit forming and arouses more criminal instincts.

The U.S. representative to the gathering, which all Latin nations except Cuba, Peru and Bolivia will attend, will be Charles Siragusa, field supervisor of the Narcotics Bureau.

This cocaine has been flowing northward into the United States.

THIS PARLEY will be followed by another in Cairo. They'll try to cut down the movement of Middle East narcotics into western Europe and the U.S.

Finally in January 1961, there'll be a global anti-narcotics congress in New York. All will try to reach a single agreement — which will be enforceable — to streamline the fight on narcotics the world over.

There is no secret about the huge shipments of narcotics from Communist China. A great deal of it moves into the United States through West Coast cities, according to the authorities who have been watching a Chinese crime syndicate there.

The fates have not been good to either the deserted crime convention grounds here or many of the delegates.

A real estate agent now is involved in litigation over the Barbara estate. He is eager to turn it into a crime shrine and charge admission for a look at the Mafia's picnic area. But the townsfolk are suing to keep him from rezoning the section.

MANY OF THOSE who cooked out here are either in prison or in hiding or even dead.

One — whom many consider the Mafia chief — is in Atlanta, the federal prison of "maximum custody." He is Vito Genovese.

Not too many cells from him is one whom many believe the mob tried to execute. He is Frank Costello. Costello has been on good behavior and soon will be released for deportation.

At least 13 narcotics operatives working with Genovese have been dispersed through the other federal prisons so they can't form a clique behind prison bars.

At least 10 other Apalachin delegates are under indictment. At least six are in hiding including some who were contacts with the mob inside some unions.

Apalachin was one convention that didn't pay off.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: First, to answer your peevish inquiry about what to do regarding the unnaturally cruel weather that has been persecuting millions of us.

Your aunt and I have looked at each other in amazement and agreed the best thing to tell you to do is keep breathing and stop cussing. It appears to us that you have adopted the philosophy of whiners.

You are taking the attitude that the weather is persecuting you, personally. There is nothing personal in it. As such things go, it's a good bet you are better off than most.

There is only one way to look at the weather in this climate. Expect it to be bad, and store up your enthusiasm for the days when you will be disappointed.

Second, to answer your remarks about "things that matter," as opposed to things that are supposed to be important but don't really matter, like the altitude at which Allied planes fly the Berlin Corridor. You have fallen into the pitfall of exclusivism, which is another thing your aunt and I thought we had taught you to avoid.

Everything matters. You do not have to exclude one thing to make room for another. You make room for everything that comes along, according to where it fits into your accommodations. For example, I do not think the altitude of planes flying the Berlin Corridor is important to me, personally, though it is important to the government. And I do not think the didoes and the fumadiddles of the two-bit politicos talking their tonsils loose in the Senate is important, either, though it is extremely interesting as an example of a political anticlimax. The segregation issue has been settled, but some of the people who made careers out of it are still around.

On the other hand it is of prime importance to me that the maple syrup prospects have been knocked cockeyed by so much cold weather lasting so long, though I know this is of no importance to you, the government, or the United Nations.

What I am saying is that I can be aware of the Berlin Corridor and all the other helzapoppin without forgetting I have an interest in a sugar grove. I do not have to wall off one interest to make room for another.

We know what is ailing you. Your aunt mutters about sulphur and molasses and wonders if you have been taking your vitamins and gargling with salt water to toughen your membranes. You need a prolonged burst of sunshine to limber up your spirit.

Down Through The Years

From The Review Files

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Midland High School won the Beaver County basketball championship by defeating New Brighton, 25-23.

E. V. Wehner was elected president of the Chester Board of Trade.

Dr. R. D. Watkins, dentist, and Earl G. Jackson, insurance agent, were elected to the school board in Chester.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — Atty. Raymond Buzzard, a member of the board of education, discussed the problems of youth at a meeting of the Neville Home and School Association.

Expansion of the high school and Garfield building at Wellsville was approved by the board of education.

TEN YEARS AGO — Harry Lawrence was elected president of the newly-organized Chamber of Commerce at East Palestine.

Value Of Primaries

By David Lawrence

Nixon, Kennedy Utilize Election Publicity

Some of the politicians may scoff at presidential primaries and pooh-pooh them but somehow both Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon are better off from a publicity standpoint than they would have been if they hadn't entered the New Hampshire primaries. For a sizable segment of the electorate—not a mere handful, such as are convassed in public opinion polls—actually expressed themselves by their votes.

David Lawrence

Vice President Nixon polled more votes than did President Eisenhower in the New Hampshire primary four years ago. Sen. Kennedy got a larger vote than the two Democratic aspirants together did in 1956.

The publicity given by the New Hampshire primaries to the two candidates — Nixon and Kennedy — was priceless. Mr. Nixon didn't campaign personally, so his big vote is especially impressive. Mr. Kennedy did campaign personally and piled up a vote far larger than that of any other Democratic aspirant to the presidency in the New Hamphsire primaries of past years.

Democratic leaders throughout the country are examining the results. They see Mr. Kennedy as a good vote getter. They see Mr. Nixon as a man who can't be written off as readily today as was attempted a few months ago.

SOME IMPORTANT conclusions can be drawn from the New Hampshire primaries. If, in state after state, Sen. Kennedy wins the presidential primaries, will the Democratic national convention dare to sidetrack him?

If it does, the cry will be raised that only because of his religion is he being barred. This viewpoint indeed was frankly and pointedly expressed several months ago in Kennedy circles as something to be borne in mind by the convention delegates. If there is a resentment developed inside the Democratic part, it could mean a large stay-at-home vote in November or even considerable support for the Republican ticket as a punitive measure.

Even more important is the "image" of Mr. Kennedy as a presidential candidate which the newspaper reports of the different primary campaigns will be giving in the next few months. No other candidate will be as much in the public eye, nor will there be any such accumulation of votes throughout the country.

Most of the other would-be candidates — Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington and Adlai Stevenson — are staying out of the primaries. Sen. Hubert Humphrey is courageously battling in some of the primaries and his best chance is in Wisconsin. But should Mr. Kennedy win there, too, it does look as if there will be no stopping the Massachusetts senator.

What Vice President Nixon gained by the New Hampshire primary is also being weighed by the politicians and it is agreed that the old myth created by some Democrats about the vice president being the "easiest to beat" is wishful thinking.

To poll more votes than President Eisenhower did in 1956 and to do so without an active campaign is a political feat of no minor significance.

MR. NIXON, moreover, was given a good chance to employ some wise tactics. He defended Sen. Kennedy publicly against the latter for allegedly being "soft on Communism."

This has the effect of putting a damper on those Democrats who were getting ready to have a field day over Mr. Nixon's comments about Communism in reference to his own political opponents in the California senatorial race a decade ago. The recent comment by the vice president shows that he knows how to rise above personalities.

But, on the other hand, this maneuver doesn't dispose of the Communist issue altogether. The attack on Sen. Kennedy doubtless will continue because he indicated a disposition toward the eventual recognition of Red China under certain circumstances. This is something that will bob up again in the campaign, as will also some questions about the Massachusetts senator's position with reference to Sen. Joseph McCarthy. It appears that some of the so-called "liberals," including Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, have been at odds with the Massachusetts senator because he didn't vote in favor of the resolution "censuring" Sen. McCarthy in 1954.

MR. KENNEDY explains that he was ill at the time and says now that, if he had been present in the Senate, he would have voted for the resolution. This confession will not endear him to the McCarthyites, of whom there are a considerable number in this country.

But, when all is said and done, Sen. Kennedy did gain stature by his showing in the New Hampshire primary and the mere fact that other candidates did not venture to dispute him indicates they thought they might get beaten.

So primaries do have their uses and the big test will come this year when, as Sen. Kennedy rolls up the biggest primary vote of all as compared with his Democratic competitors, the question will be asked why, when a man is the favorite of the Democrats of the country who participate in preconvention primaries, he isn't entitled to the presidential nomination. Primaries aren't so superfluous, after all.

Hidden Tax Ruse

By Raymond Moley

A friend, William Feather of Cleveland, who has long served American business as a printer and author of company house organs, makes an interesting and arresting suggestion of a reason why, in political affairs and otherwise, the corporations are not so popular as they should be.

It is true that millions of Americans are sufficiently well disposed toward American businesses to invest their hundred billions of savings and maintenance money in stock and products. But the habit of politicians of lambasting business, especially big business, is still found an easy means of getting votes.

Feather believes that business has lost popularity because government has made it a tax collector:

"Business collects the employe's income tax, the social security payment, and the gasoline, tobacco, liquor, entertainment, sales and all other excise taxes.

"On top of this, business collects its own profits tax by a necessary levy on consumers. What it all adds up to is that business takes and Congress gives."

A GREAT DEAL can be said for this suggestion.

Since these taxes have been collected for some years through businesses and all were not levied at the same time, it might be difficult to determine exactly whether the politicians who made the laws planned in that way to play Santa Claus with money collected by business.

Perhaps it was not deliberate. But the political mind has been conditioned over the centuries to arts of exacting revenue in the most painless way possible and thus retaining all possible good will for itself.

Many of the taxes mentioned were levied back in the 1930s and 1940s when some very crafty people were at work planting embarrassments in the path of business while they were winning elections by blasting opponents as friends of business.

The delegation of taxing power is very old. Under ancient regimes governors were supposed to exact taxes in the areas for which they were responsible and made a lot for themselves in the process. More modern nations, like France, have farmed out taxes to grimy characters with sticky hands.

Present-day business, however, gets no percentage for itself. In fact, it must pay for and worry about vast bookkeeping essential to the collections. The cost of that, of course, is a business expense which is deductible but for which in the long run other taxpayers must compensate.

SOME BUSINESSES are quite properly giving consumers notice of what is going on by listing the taxes separately from the price of the goods. Companies tell employes what has been deducted from their take home pay and what the deductions are for. But unfortunately consumers and employes generally consider only what they pay for what they buy and what they get for their work.

The constitutionality of this sort of delegation of the taxing power has been challenged without success. But judges too often find constitutional grounds for the tricks of the political regimes which have invested them with their robes of office.

Hidden taxes of any kind are wrong and the government which contrives them may well be an instrument of tyranny.

Adam Smith's maxim that a tax should be plainly known to the taxpayer and should be collected by the most direct means possible was published in the year our Declaration of Independence was signed and is almost as important.

The No-Other-Choice Committee

John C. Doerfer has resigned as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission because he had no other choice.

The House special committee on legislative oversight had nailed his hide to the barn door, as they say in politics. His further usefulness had been destroyed.

President Eisenhower gave him a choice between resigning and being forced out of his job. Resignation is the euphemism for being fired, in these situations.

The damage had been done when the commitee drew a bead on Doerfer. In the shooting gallery it operates, the targets that get serious attention are destined to be riddled before the firing starts. Doerfer's official number was up.

This is the committee that worked out on presidential assistant Sherman Adams. When it was finished, President Eisenhower's right-hand man had no choice but to get out of government. His usefulness was gone. He was riddled.

THE QUESTION raised for the American people is whether men like Adams and Doerfer are unique in the irregularities they are charged with, or whether the House special committee on legislative oversight has developed some unique way of destroying appointive officials.

The personal injustice done to Adams and which may have been done to Doerfer is overshadowed by public injustice, if it's true that these men were guilty of nothing but normal human conduct distorted by the slanted mirror of a congressional investigation.

Doerfer, for example, was friendly with people whose business affairs might have been affected by FCC rulings. Adams, it is Doerfer, for example, was friendly with people whose business affairs might have been affected by FCC rulings. Adams, it is recalled, was friendly with people who had business with the government. Both men accepted hospitality and gifts, as is the custom throughout the business community in the United States.

IT IS THE OLD question that never has been answered and never can be answered: Can a man of integrity be bought if he is not for sale?

But it now looks as i fthe question had been made unimportant by the discovery that a congressional investigation can ruin a public official by putting in the record that he did what might have influenced his decision if his decision had been open to influence.

The greatest mishap that can befall an official is to be worked over by the House special committee on legislative oversight. When it has finished, the official may have no other choice but to turn in his key and draw his pay.

Caesar's wife needed only to be above suspicion. Appointive officials, who are the special province of the committee on legislative oversight, must be above suspicion of suspicion.

Sign Language

The March issue of the Kiwanis International Magazine features one of the joint club meeting signs which grace four approaches to East Liverpool.

While the magazine editor naturally was looking at the situation through the eyes of a loyal Kiwanian, the picture serves at the same time as a plug for the community as a whole.

The signs actually represent the cooperative effort of six service organizations in addition to Kiwanis — the Chamber of Commerce, Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Quota, Lions, Rotary, Business and Professional Women's clubs.

It was pleasing that the city itself and the various organizations concerned should receive outside recognition such as that accorded by the Kiwanis Magazine.

The signs are attractive. Every effort should be made to see that they remain that way. Too often similar projects have faded away because the interest that was there originally vanished as time went by.

Lawyers Hit It About Right

The 9-7 decision by the all-lawyer Senate judiciary committee in California's Legislature to keep capital punishment for the time being is a fair reflection of prevailing opinion.

The spreading uneasiness about the practice of destroying life under legal sanction has not become quite strong enough to justify a change of attitude. It cannot be proved tha capital punishment deters the crimes it penalizes in the various states. But caution stays the hands of those who would like to get rid of it because they find it offensive to their sense of morals.

The one argument that cannot be answered is made by law enforcement officials, who point to capital punishment as the protection they need against the mad dogs they must deal with in their dangerous work.

It goes without saying in this respect that wherever capital punishment is outlawed, the one certain effect is to tempt the policeman with a gun to use it in all situations where the culprit who has resorted to violence has no fear of being punished with a death sentence.

Every airing of the capital punishment issue shows it has not been brought to a climax of decision — not yet. There is no definite answer. Society has no solution to the problem of getting rid of its human mad dogs. Until it finds one, capital punishment will seem to be a better solution than no solution at all.

It will cause agonies of individual and collective remorse. No one will be satisfied. But as in all things that concern large numbers of people, the ultimate solution will be in the making long before it finally is confirmed in law.

The trend is plainly away from capital punishment. Juries and jurists are reluctant to support it. Public opinion is turning against it. There will be fewer cases in which it will be sought, fewer cases in which it will be inflicted. Whether there will be fewer cases in which it will be deserved is an open question. There is a possibility that disorderly society will grow ever more inhumane while orderly society grows ever more humane. More fearful than the possibility, itself, is the suspicion that the latter may be the reason for the former.

Firsthand Results

Visitors at the annual Columbiana County 4-H rally Friday night in Salem saw firsthand the results of the "Head, Heart, Hands and Health" program.

Not only the skillfully - prepared projects, but the general attitude of the county's 4-H young people testified to the achievement of club goals.

This county — which ranks third in Ohio in 4-H enrollment and was second for many years — is continuing to maintain an active and effective youth organization, educating young people and providing an ideal social environment.

In conjunction with the observance of national 4-H week, special congratulations are due the some 1,700 boys and girls and their adult leaders for following the precepts of the international club and for service to themselves, their families and their communities.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

This looks like year man will at last be forced to the barricades in a revolt against women's hats. We are for a summit conference to set limits on millinery designs. And for a drastic inspection plan.

These 1960 bonnets are current top cause of belligerence, aggressions and disturbing scenes of violence. Hardly a hat doesn't harm chances of world peace. (Some of milady's lids are killing disarmament proposals.)

Every season brings disturbing influences in millinery, but this year it's impossible to look at the works of hat designers without suspecting an organized plot to foment disturbances. (There are husbands who are considering underground shelters against their wives style tastes.)

Primary purpose of a gal's chapeau is to add to her beauty; to do things FOR her not AGAINST her. It should have allure. It ought to charm a bachelor, fascinate a husband and bring admiration from the children.

Today it can frighten the entire household and make old family album portraits seem reactionary. After all a gal should never look like a candidate for a comedy spot on a Madri Gras float, or in Macy Parade.

Milady's 1960 hat situation must be met head-on with drastic measures, including appeal to the U.N. for a Committee to Protect Woman From Enslavement by Promotors of Laugh Effects at New Year's Eve parties. There is no reason why a bonnet should resemble a floor-lamp shade, an inverted waste basket ro a cover for an outboard motor.

Hardly a home in America is free from dissension and separations due to hat styles. Love is threatened. Romance is reeling. (Listen, husbands, are we men, mice or a captive audience?)

A BROKERAGE FIRM official is charged with robbing his company through "fixing" a calculating machine so it would give WRONG answers. It's disturbing to realize that even a machine can get into bad company and go astray. Maybe we need a push-button machine to watch push-button machines.

The annual flower show got transported to the Coliseum during a blizzard. A cop hailed one truck driver in the snow to demand, "Whatcha got in that truck?" He got the answer, "daffodils," and could be excused for responding with, "Wise guy, eh!"

It cost the United States $74,000 to take care of Khrushchev visit. How could you get a bigger entertainment over in these days of high costs in show business?

Castro must have his accusations against the U.S. all prepared before the event has occurred.

Jean Dalrymple, named in a group establishing pay-TV in Canada, is one of most useful gals in show world, She began as a press agent and has become an important figure in many phases of the profession.

"The Year the World Went Mad" by Allen Churchhill is great stuff if you like the nostalgic mood. The year was 1927 when Ruth hit 60 homers, Lindbergh stirred the world crossing the Atlantic alone in a flying kit, Henry Ford killed off "Lizzie" and Cal Coolidge posed for photos in a cowboy suit.

Leonard Warren, who was fatally stricken singing in a Met performance, had never done any public singing outside of Radio City Music Hall when he won auditions test 20 years ago. His was one of great success stories of opera.

Impossible events: Fidel announcing, "Let's not get excited about this. I want to be fair."

Eddie Arcaro says he may retire this year. Wanna bet?

The busiest fellow in government must be the man who has charge of packing Ike's bags.

The Power Of Faith

By Howard Brodie

"What is faith?" asked a friend during a recent conversation.

I decided to learn what great men, who lived faith or expressed its power, had to say about the subject:

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," wrote St. Paul.

"A mighty fortress is our God, A bulwark never failing . . . " penned Martin Luther.

Bach inscribed his scores of sacred music at the beginning with J.J. (Jesus, help) and at the end with S.D.G. (to God alone the glory). Michelangelo wrote, "I live and love in God's peculiar light." Shakespeare wrote, "There are no tricks in plain and simple faith."

W. E. Channing penned, "Faith is love taking the form of aspiration."

Tolstoy wrote, "Faith is the force of life."

Internal War Splits Crime Group

By Victor Riesel

APALACHIN, N.Y. There's snow on the grill where the Mafia's crime convention once cooked out. There's grim symbolism in the white stuff covering the old Joe Barbara estate.

Victor Riesel

"Snow" is the mob's word for dope or heroin. The criminal syndicate met here just about 2 months ago to order its people to get out from under the "snow."

That order has never really been carried out. That's the news at this moment of Apalachin re-visited.

There is swift civil war in the ranks of the second government. The elders still are trying to force the younger, less wealthy members out of the "junk" business and into the safer businesses of gambling, commercial security operations, labor and industrial rackets, real estate and construction.

FEDERAL AGENCIES have tried hard to hit the narcotics holdouts on a second front. But despite heavy punishment by the mob's high command on one side and the United States on the other, there's still a multi-million dollar narcotics trade flourishing in the big cities.

Federals are convinced it will take a series of international summit meetings to cut down the dope trade.

Narcotics cost industry hundreds of millions of dollars a year in heavy taxes for the fight on dope-incited crime alone. It costs additional millions because of the effect on workers in several big industrial states.

First of the international parleys is an anti-cocaine conference in Rio de Janeiro next week. Cocaine traffic has suddenly become just as serious and dangerous as the heroin trade. The mobs are now moving in on this one. The cocaine comes mostly out of Peru and Bolivia.

This drug is far more dangerous than heroin, Federal Narcotics Bureau Chief Harry Anslinger tells me. It's far more habit forming and arouses more criminal instincts.

The U.S. representative to the gathering, which all Latin nations except Cuba, Peru and Bolivia will attend, will be Charles Siragusa, field supervisor of the Narcotics Bureau.

This cocaine has been flowing northward into the United States.

THIS PARLEY will be followed by another in Cairo. They'll try to cut down the movement of Middle East narcotics into western Europe and the U.S.

Finally in January 1961, there'll be a global anti-narcotics congress in New York. All will try to reach a single agreement — which will be enforceable — to streamline the fight on narcotics the world over.

There is no secret about the huge shipments of narcotics from Communist China. A great deal of it moves into the United States through West Coast cities, according to the authorities who have been watching a Chinese crime syndicate there.

The fates have not been good to either the deserted crime convention grounds here or many of the delegates.

A real estate agent now is involved in litigation over the Barbara estate. He is eager to turn it into a crime shrine and charge admission for a look at the Mafia's picnic area. But the townsfolk are suing to keep him from rezoning the section.

MANY OF THOSE who cooked out here are either in prison or in hiding or even dead.

One — whom many consider the Mafia chief — is in Atlanta, the federal prison of "maximum custody." He is Vito Genovese.

Not too many cells from him is one whom many believe the mob tried to execute. He is Frank Costello. Costello has been on good behavior and soon will be released for deportation.

At least 13 narcotics operatives working with Genovese have been dispersed through the other federal prisons so they can't form a clique behind prison bars.

At least 10 other Apalachin delegates are under indictment. At least six are in hiding including some who were contacts with the mob inside some unions.

Apalachin was one convention that didn't pay off.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: First, to answer your peevish inquiry about what to do regarding the unnaturally cruel weather that has been persecuting millions of us.

Your aunt and I have looked at each other in amazement and agreed the best thing to tell you to do is keep breathing and stop cussing. It appears to us that you have adopted the philosophy of whiners.

You are taking the attitude that the weather is persecuting you, personally. There is nothing personal in it. As such things go, it's a good bet you are better off than most.

There is only one way to look at the weather in this climate. Expect it to be bad, and store up your enthusiasm for the days when you will be disappointed.

Second, to answer your remarks about "things that matter," as opposed to things that are supposed to be important but don't really matter, like the altitude at which Allied planes fly the Berlin Corridor. You have fallen into the pitfall of exclusivism, which is another thing your aunt and I thought we had taught you to avoid.

Everything matters. You do not have to exclude one thing to make room for another. You make room for everything that comes along, according to where it fits into your accommodations. For example, I do not think the altitude of planes flying the Berlin Corridor is important to me, personally, though it is important to the government. And I do not think the didoes and the fumadiddles of the two-bit politicos talking their tonsils loose in the Senate is important, either, though it is extremely interesting as an example of a political anticlimax. The segregation issue has been settled, but some of the people who made careers out of it are still around.

On the other hand it is of prime importance to me that the maple syrup prospects have been knocked cockeyed by so much cold weather lasting so long, though I know this is of no importance to you, the government, or the United Nations.

What I am saying is that I can be aware of the Berlin Corridor and all the other hehzapoppin without forgetting I have an interest in a sugar grove. I do not have to wall off one interest to make room for another.

We know what is ailing you. Your aunt mutters about sulphur and molasses and wonders if you have been taking your vitamins and gargling with salt water to toughen your membranes. You need a prolonged burst of sunshine to limber up your spirit.

Down Through The Years

Value Of Primaries

By David Lawrence

Nixon, Kennedy Utilize Election Publicity

Some of the politicians may scoff at presidential primaries and pooh-pooh them but somehow both Sen. Kennedy and Vice President Nixon are better off from a publicity standpoint than they would have been if they hadn't entered the New Hampshire primaries. For a sizable segment of the electorate—not a mere handful, such as are convassed in public opinion polls—actually expressed themselves by their votes.

David Lawrence

Vice President Nixon polled more votes than did President Eisenhower in the New Hampshire primary four years ago. Sen. Kennedy got a larger vote than the two Democratic aspirants together did in 1956.

The publicity given by the New Hampshire primaries to the two candidates — Nixon and Kennedy — was priceless. Mr. Nixon didn't campaign personally, so his big vote is especially impressive. Mr. Kennedy did campaign personally and piled up a vote far larger than that of any other Democratic aspirant to the presidency in the New Hamphsire primaries of past years.

Democratic leaders throughout the country are examining the results. They see Mr. Kennedy as a good vote getter. They see Mr. Nixon as a man who can't be written off as readily today as was attempted a few months ago.

SOME IMPORTANT conclusions can be drawn from the New Hampshire primaries. If, in state after state, Sen. Kennedy wins the presidential primaries, will the Democratic national convention dare to sidetrack him?

If it does, the cry will be raised that only because of his religion is he being barred. This viewpoint indeed was frankly and pointedly expressed several months ago in Kennedy circles as something to be borne in mind by the convention delegates. If there is a resentment developed inside the Democratic part, it could mean a large stay-at-home vote in November or even considerable support for the Republican ticket as a punitive measure.

Even more important is the "image" of Mr. Kennedy as a presidential candidate which the newspaper reports of the different primary campaigns will be giving in the next few months. No other candidate will be as much in the public eye, nor will there be any such accumulation of votes throughout the country.

Most of the other would-be candidates — Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Stuart Symington and Adlai Stevenson — are staying out of the primaries. Sen. Hubert Humphrey is courageously battling in some of the primaries and his best chance is in Wisconsin. But should Mr. Kennedy win there, too, it does look as if there will be no stopping the Massachusetts senator.

What Vice President Nixon gained by the New Hampshire primary is also being weighed by the politicians and it is agreed that the old myth created by some Democrats about the vice president being the "easiest to beat" is wishful thinking.

To poll more votes than President Eisenhower did in 1956 and to do so without an active campaign is a political feat of no minor significance.

MR. NIXON, moreover, was given a good chance to employ some wise tactics. He defended Sen. Kennedy publicly against the latter for allegedly being "soft on Communism."

Work Mishaps Injured 2 Men

Two men injured while working, three persons hurt in falls and a boy injured in a sledding accident were treated Friday at City Hospital.

Ewing P. Gregg, 47, of Benton Rd., Salem, a butcher at Loblaw Market, cut his thumb with a knife yesterday morning.

Edward Scarry, 27, of Salineville R. D. 1 suffered a sprained right hand when an iron bar fell at work in Wellsville Friday morning.

Mrs. Mary McLane, 323 W. 6th St., was treated yesterday morning for a sprained left ankle suffered in a fall at home Thursday night.

Richard Severs, 2, son of Robert Severs of Lycia Ave., Chester, received a laceration of the forehead when he fell down the cellar steps at home about noon yesterday.

Mary Jane Pelley, 11, daughter of Phillip Pelley, 420 Grant St., Newell, suffered a possible shoulder injury when she fell at school yesterday afternoon.

Ebert Nelson, son of Elmer Nelson of 5th Ave., LaCroft, received abrasions and lacerations of the lip and nose in a sledding mishap last night.

5-Act Passion Play Waited At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A five-act passion play, depicting Jesus Christ's last week in Jerusalem, will be staged Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Salineville High School auditorium.

The public presentation, "Man of Sorrows," will be given by the Patrician Players of Hubbard and Maximo under the sponsorship of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Act 1 portrays Christ's curing of the blind men, entry into Jerusalem and driving out the money changers. Act 2 shows the Last Supper and Christ's arrest, and Act 3 represents the religious trial.

The civil trial before Herod is shown in Act 4 and the Crucifixion is depicted in Act 5. A final tableau shows the Resurrection.

Proceeds will be used for church projects, Fr. Homer Oliver said.

Historical Group Gets Old County Records

LISBON — The Columbiana County Historical Society has agreed to take over all the county's old records which the County Records Commission had decided to destroy about May 9.

A lot of letters and complaints were received against burning the documents from three offices, but the commission felt that they were of no value and would have disposed of them.

Fire Loss Is Minor

EAST PALESTINE — Firemen were called to the home of Walter Walley, 604 Bacon Ave., at 9:30 a. m. today when the chimney caught fire. It apparently was caused by an overheated furnace. Minor damage resulted.

5-Act Passion Play Waited At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — A five-act passion play, depicting Jesus Christ's last week in Jerusalem, will be staged Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Salineville High School auditorium.

The public presentation, "Man of Sorrows," will be given by the Patrician Players of Hubbard and Maximo under the sponsorship of St. Patrick's Catholic Church.

Act 1 portrays Christ's curing of the blind men, entry into Jerusalem and driving out the money changers. Act 2 shows the Last Supper and Christ's arrest, and Act 3 represents the religious trial.

The civil trial before Herod is shown in Act 4 and the Crucifixion is depicted in Act 5. A final tableau shows the Resurrection.

Proceeds will be used for church projects, Fr. Homer Oliver said.

Historical Group Gets Old County Records

LISBON — The Columbiana County Historical Society has agreed to take over all the county's old records which the County Records Commission had decided to destroy about May 9.

A lot of letters and complaints were received against burning the documents from three offices, but the commission felt that they were of no value and would have disposed of them.

Fire Loss Is Minor

EAST PALESTINE — Firemen were called to the home of Walter Walley, 604 Bacon Ave., at 9:30 a. m. today when the chimney caught fire. It apparently was caused by an overheated furnace. Minor damage resulted.

Nazarenes Aim At Easter

Rocket Theme To Be Used In Sunday School Contest

Following a "rocket" theme, with blast-off and efforts to attain orbit, the First Church of The Nazarene will open a Sunday School attendance contest tomorrow to last seven weeks through Easter, competing with an Akron church.

Delmas Sanford, superintendent, said all schools of the denomination are co-operating in the drive for increased attendance.

The committee is headed by Richard Sanford, assisted by Walter Lineberry, Harold Hardy, Christine Green, Olive Keener, Ruth Huggins, and Mr. and Mrs. Greg Ganas.

A large, simulated rocket 12 feet tall has been erected on the lawn of the church and missile projects made by the children will be displayed around the building.

Each of the seven Sundays is to represent a firing stage in the attempt to get the Sunday School in "orbit" with an attendance of more than 1,000 on Easter.

"Blast-off Day" will be observed tomorrow a 9:30 a. m. and the goal is 550. The figure is to be increased by 75 each successive Sunday. OSU, Cincinnati Breeze Into NCAA Region Finals

Mounties, Ohio U. Drop Close Frays

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The unheralded Oregon Webfoots from the Pacific Northwest were the surprise of the NCAA championship basketball tourney Friday night.

Beaten nine times during the regular season, Oregon was considered a setup for sixth-ranked Utah (25-2) champions of the Skyline Conference. But almost before the Utes knew what was happening they were 11 points behind. They never caught up and were beaten 65-54 in the Far West regional semifinals at Seattle.

The surprising Oregon boys face California, the defending champions, in the regional final tonight.

Cincinnati, California and Ohio State, rated 1-2-3 in the final Associated Press poll of the season, had little trouble joining Oregon in the national quarterfinals. However, fifth-ranked West Virginia, like Utah, bit the dust. The Southern Conference champs were tripped by New York University 82-81 in overtime. Georgia Tech, Duke and Kansas also reached the round of eight.

This is the setup for tonight's regional finals which will determine the four teams to go to the national semifinals and final at San Francisco next Friday and Saturday.

Eastern at Charlotte, N.C.: NYU vs. Duke.

Mideast at Louisville, Ky.: Georgia Tech vs. Ohio State.

Midwest at Manhattan, Kan.: Kansas vs. Cincinnati.

Far West at Seattle: Oregon vs. California.

All-America Jerry West scored 34 points for West Virginia, but it wasn't enough to balk NYU. The Violets' Russ Cunningham popped in a jump shot with four seconds left in regulation time to tie the game 77-77. Then, with only eight seconds left in the extra period, Cunningham flipped in a free throw that sealed the doom of the Mountaineers.

Duke, which surprised by winning the Atlantic Coast Conference championship last week, lifted more eyebrows by nipping St. Josephs of Philadelphia 58-56.

Ohio University nearly surprised Georgie Tech, but the SEC boys finished in front 57-54.

Ohio State, the Big Ten champion, was seven points behind Western Kentucky at halftime, then virtually blasted the Hilltoppers off the court at Louisville with a 61-point second half for a 98-79 victory.

Kansas trailed Texas at the half, too, but Wayne Hightower scored 22 points for the Wildcats in the second half and they whipped the Southwest Conference champs 90-81.

It was a cakewalk for Cincinnati and All-America Oscar Robertson as they walloped DePaul 99-59. Robertson bagged 29 points.

It was a breeze for California, too. The defending champs walloped Santa Clara 69-49 and their famous defense was never sharper.

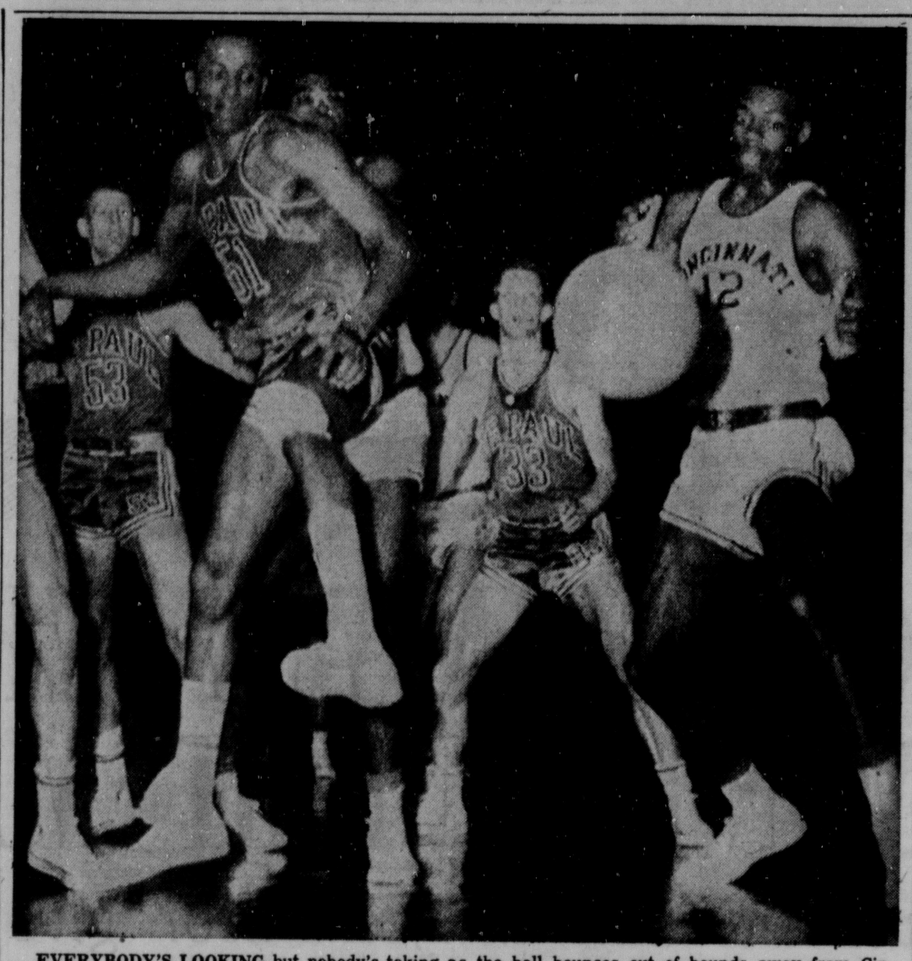
Glenn Moore, 6-7 pivot man, sparked the Oregon upset. He held Utah's ace, 6-9 Billy McGill to 6 points for the entire game. Moore was ably assisted by Chuck Rask who virtually took care of Utah's full court press all by himself. Rask finished with 18 points and Moore 19.

Evansville (Ind) College won the NCAA small college championship for the second straight year with a 90-60 romp over Chapman (Calif) in the tourney final at Evansville. Kentucky Wesleyan beat Cornell of Iowa 86-76 for third place.

The Westminster titans of New Wilmington, Pa. ended the three-year reign of Tennessee A & I State as NAIA champions. They nipped the Southern team 39-38 in the semifinals of the NAIA tourney at Kansas City. Southwest Texas beat William Jewell 82-44 in the other semifinal and will meet Westminster for the title tonight.

Firing resumes today in the National Invitation Tourney with afternoon - night doubleheaders in New York.

The first matinee game pits St. Bonaventure against Holy Cross. In the second, to be national televised, Utah State battles Villanova. The night twin bill finds Dayton against Temple and St. Louis against Providence.



EVERYBODY'S LOOKING but nobody's taking as the ball bounces out of bounds away from Cincinnati University's All American forward Oscar Robertson (12) as Depaul University players Paul Ruddy (53), McKinley Cowsen (51) and Bill Haig (33) watch the loose ball in an NCAA regional game Friday night at Manhattan, Kan. Cincinnati center Paul Hogue is behind Cowsen. Cincinnati won, 99-59. (UPI Telephoto)

7 Class A Quints Win Region Spots

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Seven Class A teams were safely in Ohio's high school regional basketball tournaments today, with the other nine of next week's cage cast to be picked tonight.

All 16 Class AA regional berths will be up for grabs in tonight's district finals.

Two former champions, Northwestern of Wayne County (1958) and Glenford (1941), are among the seven smaller schools in the fold. The Wayne County crew has a 25-0 record, Glenford 21-5. The seven qualifiers have an over-all record of 163 wins against only 10 defeats.

Granville, with 24-0, and New Boston with 22-0, will compete at Athens with Glenford. Ashville, which split the Central District crown with Granville, goes to Troy, and Hiland (24-2) moves into the Canton playoffs with Northwestern and Lowellville (23-1).

Salem Local of Urbana, one of last year's state finalists, and Ayersville's 1957 champions, are the only other unbeaten teams still in the Class A scrap. Ayersville (24-0) meets Oakwood (22-3) at Defiance tonight, while the Urbana team (22-0) must get by Rushsylvania (23-1) at Springfield.

Castalia Margaretta's 1932 Class A kings were ousted Friday night at Mansfield by Lykens, 61-51, but the big disaster was in Class AA as Archbold, winner of 19 straight, fell before Toledo Libbey, 51-49.

With the starting Class AA field of 432 whittled to 32, and the 561 Class A teams to 25, there was plenty of talent still around.

Eight of the top 10 in the final Associated Press poll were among the 25 Class A survivors, and six of the Class AA elite were still on deck.

No one had distrubed the top four in either division, but one of Class AA's best must drop tonight. Dayton Roosevelt's top - ranked Teddies and fourth-ranked Xenia Central, each with a 22-0 mark, tangle at Dayton for a spot in the Cincinnati regional—a game which would look fine in the state tourney finals.

In addition to the two Dayton finalists, only third-ranked Canton Timken remains unblemished in Class AA. But scattered among the 32 teams are six clubs which have won the state title 15 times in 37 years.

Cleveland East Tech, the Class AA victor the last two years, goes against Cleveland St. Ignatius (19-2) at Bedford tonight for a regional berth. The champs have won 19 straight since dropping the opener.

Other ex-kings are seven-time winner Middletown, Newark (3), and Xenia Central, Dayton Roosevelt and Portsmouth. Springfield's Wildcats, the 1925 and 1950 victors, were ousted Friday night by Urbana, 61-53.

Cleveland East Tech, Middletown and Toledo Scott of last year's state final cast are among the survivors in the big school division, while Northwestern and Salem Local of the 1959 final four in Class A are still alive.

Curran's Take Over Lead In Little Potters League

Bob Curran's took over the lead in the Little Potters League after Ogilvie's and Hune Co., which shared first place earlier this week, were upset Friday afternoon at the Broadway gym.

While Curran's handed Coca-Cola an 18-8 setback, McNutt Insurance pulled a big upset by spilling Hune Co., 20-17 and Frank Dawson's staved off a late rally to nip Ogilvie's, 11-9.

Curran's can wrap up the title on the final day next Friday when the leaders meet Potters Bank.

Vern Smith tossed in eight points and Duane Lacey scored six to pace Curran's. Lester Chapman and Lamborn had four each for the losers.

Mike McFarland put on a brilliant scoring exhibition in the second half to lead McNutt's upset victory over Hune Co.

Held to only one field goal in the first half, McFarland broke loose for 10 points in the final two periods.

John Higgins, the leading scorer in the league, dropped in 10, including six in the fourth quarter to pace Hune Co.

An Ogilvie rally in the last three minutes almost caught Dawson's which held on for a two-point victory.

Ogilvie's scored seven of its nine points in the fourth quarter.

Danny Roach paced Dawson's with six points while Chuck Winters scored five for the losers, including four in the final period.

Potters Bank registered its first victory of the season over First National. John Stoddard was the big gun for the winners with eight points while Herring fired in five for First National.

Yogi Berra On Third? Yep, Declares Ole Case

By The Associated Press

"Berra, 3b."

No kiddin'! That's what it said on Casey Stengel's starting lineup for today's exhibition opener.

Stengel's New York Yankees took on the St. Louis Cardinals in one of eight games at the Florida and Arizona training camps.

Although Yogi, one of baseball's finest catchers, has played the outfield and first base with some regularity, the third base listing came as somewhat of a surprise.

Stengel brushed it off with, "What do you want me to do, have him catch. I want to use other catchers here (in training). How about John Blanchard (reserve catcher? He's been down here for two years and nobody's seen him yet."

Earlier this week Yogi played third in an intrasquad game and was doing ok until Gil McDougald and Andy Carey, the most likely Yankee third basemen, bunted on Berra. McDougald beat his out for a hit, and Carey would have if the ball had not gone foul.

Despite Casey's casual comments, there might just be something to "Berra, 3b." Carey, ill most of last season, has never been the hitter Casey would like at third. McDougald has had two consecutive bad seasons at the plate and is considered slower than he used to be in the field. In fact, Gil is Yankee trade bait and will most likely go to Washington if the Yanks can swing a deal for a pitcher.

Elston Howard, already better than many of the starting catchers in baseball, would take over behind the plate for the Yanks if Yogi were moved to third.

Mantle Takes Cut Of $7,000

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle doesn't expect to be any more popular with New York fans even if he fulfills his ambition this year of hitting .350 and leading the American League in runs batted in.

The Yankee slugger made this surprising statement Friday after taking a $7,000 pay cut in signing for $65,000. The 28-year-old center field star flew into town from his Dallas home Thursday night and came to terms with General Manager George Weiss Friday morning after a two-minute conference.

The popularity angle was injected by Weiss, who expressed the hope that Mantle has a big year in 1960 so that Mickey could, in addition to helping the team win the pennant, regain his popularity with the Yankee Stadium fans.

Mantle didn't seem too concerned.

"I didn't know I was ever popular," he said. "I had a couple of pretty good years and it didn't help me much."

Mickey didn't appear overjoyed at his signing. He returned the first contract last February calling for $55,000 and ignored a second offer calling for $60,000.

7 Class A Quints Win Region Spots

By FRITZ HOWELL
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Seven Class A teams were safely in Ohio's high school regional basketball tournaments today, with the other nine of next week's cage cast to be picked tonight.

All 16 Class AA regional berths will be up for grabs in tonight's district finals.

Two former champions, Northwestern of Wayne County (1956) and Glenford (1941), are among the seven smaller schools in the fold. The Wayne County crew has a 25-0 record, Glenford 21-3. The seven qualifiers have an over-all record of 163 wins against only 10 defeats.

Granville, with 24-0, and New Boston with 22-0, will compete at Athens with Glenford. Ashville, which split the Central District crown with Granville, goes to Troy, and Hiland (24-2) moves into the Canton playoffs with Northwestern and Lowellville (23-1).

Salem Local of Urbana, one of last year's state finalists, and Ayersville's 1957 champions, are the only other unbeaten teams still in the Class A scrap. Ayersville (24-0) meets Oakwood (22-3) at Defiance tonight, while the Urbana team (22-0) must get by Rushsylvania (23-1) at Springfield.

Castalia Margaretta's 1932 Class A kings were ousted Friday night at Mansfield by Lykens, 61-51, but the big disaster was in Class AA as Archbold, winner of 19 straight, fell before Toledo Libbey, 51-49.

With the starting Class AA field of 432 whittled to 32, and the 561 Class A teams to 25, there was plenty of talent still around.

Eight of the top 10 in the final Associated Press poll were among the 25 Class A survivors, and six of the Class AA elite were still on deck.

No one had distrubed the top four in either division, but one of Class AA's best must drop tonight. Dayton Roosevelt's top - ranked Teddies and fourth-ranked Xenia Central, each with a 22-0 mark, tangle at Dayton for a spot in the Cincinnati regional—a game which would look fine in the state tourney finals.

In addition to the two Dayton finalists, only third-ranked Canton Timken remains unblemished in Class AA. But scattered among the 32 teams are six clubs which have won the state title 15 times in 37 years.

Cleveland East Tech, the Class AA victor the last two years, goes against Cleveland St. Ignatius (19-2) at Bedford tonight for a regional berth. The champs have won 19 straight since dropping the opener.

Other ex-kings are seven-time winner Middletown, Newark (3), and Xenia Central, Dayton Roosevelt and Portsmouth. Springfield's Wildcats, the 1925 and 1950 victors, were ousted Friday night by Urbana, 61-53.

Cleveland East Tech, Middletown and Toledo Scott of last year's state final cast are among the survivors in the big school division, while Northwestern and Salem Local of the 1959 final four in Class A are still alive.

Curran's Take Over Lead In Little Potters League

Bob Curran's took over the lead in the Little Potters League after Ogilvie's and Hune Co., which shared first place earlier this week, were upset Friday afternoon at the Broadway gym.

While Curran's handed Coca-Cola an 18-8 setback, McNutt Insurance pulled a big upset by spilling Hune Co., 20-17 and Frank Dawson's staved off a late rally to nip Ogilvie's, 11-9.

Curran's can wrap up the title on the final day next Friday when the leaders meet Potters Bank.

Vern Smith tossed in eight points and Duane Lacey scored six to pace Curran's. Lester Chapman and Lamborn had four each for the losers.

Mike McFarland put on a brilliant scoring exhibition in the second half to lead McNutt's upset victory over Hune Co.

Held to only one field goal in the first half, McFarland broke loose for 10 points in the final two periods.

John Higgins, the leading scorer in the league, dropped in 10, including six in the fourth quarter to pace Hune Co.

An Ogilvie rally in the last three minutes almost caught Dawson's which held on for a two-point victory.

Ogilvie's scored seven of its nine points in the fourth quarter.

Danny Roach paced Dawson's with six points while Chuck Winters scored five for the losers, including four in the final period.

Potters Bank registered its first victory of the season over First National. John Stoddard was the big gun for the winners with eight points while Herring fired in five for First National.

Yogi Berra On Third? Yep, Declares Ole Case

By The Associated Press

"Berra, 3b."

No kiddin'! That's what it said on Casey Stengel's starting lineup for today's exhibition opener.

Stengel's New York Yankees took on the St. Louis Cardinals in one of eight games at the Florida and Arizona training camps.

Although Yogi, one of baseball's finest catchers, has played the outfield and first base with some regularity, the third base listing came as somewhat of a surprise.

Stengel brushed it off with, "What do you want me to do, have him catch. I want to use other catchers here (in training). How about John Blanchard (reserve catcher? He's been down here for two years and nobody's seen him yet."

Earlier this week Yogi played third in an intrasquad game and was doing ok until Gil McDougald and Andy Carey, the most likely Yankee third basemen, bunted on Berra. McDougald beat his out for a hit, and Carey would have if the ball had not gone foul.

Despite Casey's casual comments, there might just be something to "Berra, 3b." Carey, ill most of last season, has never been the hitter Casey would like at third. McDougald has had two consecutive bad seasons at the plate and is considered slower than he used to be in the field. In fact, Gil is Yankee trade bait and will most likely go to Washington if the Yanks can swing a deal for a pitcher.

Elston Howard, already better than many of the starting catchers in baseball, would take over behind the plate for the Yanks if Yogi were moved to third.

Mantle Takes Cut Of $7,000

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mickey Mantle doesn't expect to be any more popular with New York fans even if he fulfills his ambition this year of hitting .350 and leading the American League in runs batted in.

The Yankee slugger made this surprising statement Friday after taking a $7,000 pay cut in signing for $65,000. The 28-year-old center field star flew into town from his Dallas home Thursday night and came to terms with General Manager George Weiss Friday morning after a two-minute conference.

The popularity angle was injected by Weiss, who expressed the hope that Mantle has a big year in 1960 so that Mickey could, in addition to helping the team win the pennant, regain his popularity with the Yankee Stadium fans.

Mantle didn't seem too concerned.

"I didn't know I was ever popular," he said. "I had a couple of pretty good years and it didn't help me much."

Mickey didn't appear overjoyed at his signing. He returned the first contract last February calling for $85,000 and ignored a second offer calling for $60,000.

Review Slated On Man's Fine

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff decreed a fine of $50 and costs Friday afternoon for a Hancock County trucker as the aftermath of a four-way crash on Dresden Ave. Tuesday, but told the defendant he need not pay the penalty until March 18, when it will be reviewed in the light of the outcome of the condition of a woman motorist who was injured in the mishap.

Stanley O. Taylor, 54, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 pleaded "no contest" when arraigned before Judge Chertoff on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. The judge convicted him upon the testimony of Patrolman William A. Devon, who filed the charge.

Queried by the court, Officer Devon said Mrs. Mae M. Rohall, 43, of the Old Fredericktown Rd. still is a patient in City Hospital with back injuries suffered in the crash.

Then the judge imposed the fine, but set the case for review March 18 at 2 p. m. and told Taylor he need not pay the penalty, meanwhile. He indicated he will take Mrs. Rohall's injuries into consideration for possible mitigation of the fine in the event the week's interval discloses she was not critically hurt.

Mrs. Rohall's car was first in a line of four vehicles that was involved in a "chain reaction" crash. When she halted to make a left turn into a market's parking lot, a panel truck and a tractor-trailer stopped behind, police said. Then Taylor's tractor-trailer hit the halted rig, knocking it forward into the panel truck, which then hit Mrs. Rohall's car, police said.

Taylor told Judge Chertoff he was driving 20 miles an hour or less when he saw the tractor-trailer halt about 60 feet ahead. But when he applied the brakes, his rig skidded on ice along the berm and the collision resulted, he said.

OSU Board Approves Boost In Student Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Trustees of Ohio State University has approved a $10 per quarter increase in student fees effective with the summer quarter.

The increase will make the annual residence fees at OSU $300 except for such courses as medicine, dentistry, law and veterinary medicine, which are higher.

The professional schools' fees were also boosted $10 a quarter.

President Novice G. Fawcett said the fee increase would provide about $600,000 annually, which would go into personnel salaries, including faculty, technical, civil service and student employes.

Weirton Negotiates Over Phone Franchise

WEIRTON — The city began negotiations with the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. for a utility franchise renewal at an informal Council meeting Thursday night.

Harvey Liley, manager of the Weirton branch of the utility, met with Council to begin negotiations for the new franchise.

Council directed Edward A. Ewing, city manager, to re-open negotiations, which were halted with no agreement in May 1957.

Lisbon Council To Meet

LISBON — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 and Mayor Dean Stockman said a representative of the county health department will discuss the village dump and reports will be received from the police committee and for the proposed change in garbage collection service.

Welfare Aide At Class

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mrs. Edith Evans of State Route 2, a worker in the Hancock County Department of Public Assistance, is attending a two-week orientation and refresher course for DPA workers in Charleston. She is scheduled to return about March 23.

Review Slated On Man's Fine

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff decreed a fine of $50 and costs Friday afternoon for a Hancock County trucker as the aftermath of a four-way crash on Dresden Ave. Tuesday, but told the defendant he need not pay the penalty until March 18, when it will be reviewed in the light of the outcome of the condition of a woman motorist who was injured in the mishap.

Stanley O. Taylor, 54, of New Cumberland R. D. 1 pleaded "no contest" when arraigned before Judge Chertoff on a charge of failure to stop within the assured clear distance. The judge convicted him upon the testimony of Patrolman William A. Devon, who filed the charge.

Queried by the court, Officer Devon said Mrs. Mae M. Rohall, 43, of the Old Fredericktown Rd. still is a patient in City Hospital with back injuries suffered in the crash.

Then the judge imposed the fine, but set the case for review March 18 at 2 p. m. and told Taylor he need not pay the penalty, meanwhile. He indicated he will take Mrs. Rohall's injuries into consideration for possible mitigation of the fine in the event the week's interval discloses she was not critically hurt.

Mrs. Rohall's car was first in a line of four vehicles that was involved in a "chain reaction" crash. When she halted to make a left turn into a market's parking lot, a panel truck and a tractor-trailer stopped behind, police said. Then Taylor's tractor-trailer hit the halted rig, knocking it forward into the panel truck, which then hit Mrs. Rohall's car, police said.

Taylor told Judge Chertoff he was driving 30 miles an hour or less when he saw the tractor-trailer halt about 60 feet ahead. But when he applied the brakes, his rig skidded on ice along the berm and the collision resulted, he said.

OSU Board Approves Boost In Student Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Board of Trustees of Ohio State University has approved a $10 per quarter increase in student fees effective with the summer quarter.

The increase will make the annual residence fees at OSU $300, except for such courses as medicine, dentistry, law and veterinary medicine, which are higher.

The professional schools' fees were also boosted $10 a quarter.

President Novice G. Fawcett said the fee increase would provide about $600,000 annually, which would go into personnel salaries, including faculty, technical, civil service and student employes.

Weirton Negotiates Over Phone Franchise

WEIRTON — The city began negotiations with the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. for a utility franchise renewal at an informal Council meeting Thursday night.

Harvey Liley, manager of the Weirton branch of the utility, met with Council to begin negotiations for the new franchise.

Council directed Edward A. Ewing, city manager, to re-open negotiations, which were halted with no agreement in May 1957.

Lisbon Council To Meet

LISBON — Council will meet Monday night at 7:30 and Mayor Dean Stockman said a representative of the county health department will discuss the village dump and reports will be received from the police committee and for the proposed change in garbage collection service.

Welfare Aide At Class

NEW CUMBERLAND — Mrs. Edith Evans of State Route 2, a worker in the Hancock County Department of Public Assistance, is attending a two-week orientation and refresher course for DPA workers in Charleston. She is scheduled to return about March 23.

11 Locals—Not 22—Opposed Building Plan

Eleven local unions — not 22 — enacted resolutions seeking a referendum on plans to construct a new headquarters building for the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

The figure 22 crept into a Review story Friday by typographical error in relation to the number of locals that sent resolutions to IBOP headquarters seeking a vote of the trade. However, as explained previously, the IBOP executive board ruled out 6 of the 11. At least eight locals must enact such resolutions to force a referendum.

Hookstown Seaman Visits Home On Leave

Seaman App. Ross A. Speer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Speer of Hookstown, is home on a 14-day delay en route from the Great Lakes (Ill.) Naval Training Station to Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mercer, former Georgetown R. D. 1 residents, have moved to Virginia Ave., Chester. They visited their son and daughter - in - law, Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Mercer, of Chardon, Ohio.

Faces Fraud Trial

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Helen Ray, onetime deputy in Clinton County Probate Court, must stand trial April 20 on a charge of converting $2,100 in court funds. She pleaded innocent in Common Pleas Court Friday.

Wellsville Girl Scouts Wait Anniversary Program Sunday

The Wellsville Neighborhood Area Girl Scout celebration for the 48th anniversary of scouting will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at McDonald School.

The flag ceremony will be conducted by Dottie Elliott, Linda Thompson, Toby Weekley, Penny Barth and Karen Chema. The Rev. Clark Allison will offer the invocation.

Linda Rolley of Troop 52 will lead the pledge of allegiance; Karen Bunfield, 41, the Brownie Promise, and Naomi Haney, 16, the Girl Scout Promise.

The audience will sing "America."

Joyce Westlake will lead in the greeting song, "Hello."

Mrs. Betty Moore, leader, and Troop 40, will present the songs, "Put My Hand on Myself" and "Rover."

Browne Troop 76, under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Chema, will sing "In a Cottage."

Janet Lewis will give the history of scouting.

Troops 30 and 38 will combine for their songs, "When E're You Make a Promise," "Hiking Song" and "I've Got a Mansion Over the Hilltop." Miss Westlake will be soloist. The troops will also give the scout laws and promise. Leaders are Mrs. James Heaton and Mrs. George Elliott.

"Easter Parade" and "A Good Girl Scout" will be the selections of Troop 21 with Mrs. Shirley Lanam as leader.

Songs by Troop 41 will be "Bunny Song" and "Down by the Station." Mrs. Esther Lanam is leader.

All the troops will sing "Our Chalet" and "Girl Scouts Together," led by Miss Westlake.

Mrs. Pauline Robinson and Troop 16 will give "Song Without Words."

Troop 65 will do "Do Re Me" and "Hi Ho" with Mrs. Mildred Maple leader.

"Trip Around the World" will be presented by Troop 52 with Mrs. Helen Rolley leader.

All the Brownies will sing "The Bear Went Over the Mountain" and "Do My Ears Hang Low."

The program will close with "Taps."

Mrs. George Elliott is neighborhood chairman and Mrs. William Chema and Mrs. Robert Weekley are co - chairmen for the sing.

On Oct. 16, 1940, approximately 16,400,000 men were registered for U.S. Armed Forces under the Selective Service Act.

Released On Bond

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Dolley E. Haines, 54, teller since 1952 at Dollar Savings & Loan Assn. in Hamilton, elected to waive preliminary hearing Friday on a charge of embezzling over $6,000. U. S. Commissioner Graham Hunt released her on $2,000 bond.

THE ALL-NEW 1960 BEAUTYREST
...with more buoyant firmness than ever before

New resilience! New firmness! 12% greater spring support! And this newest and most restful of mattresses actually costs least to own!

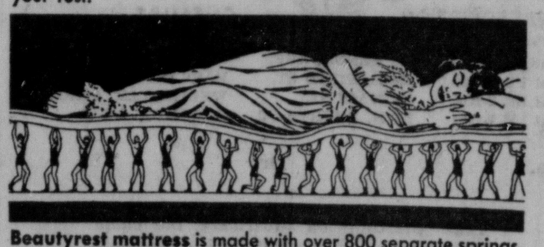
New power-packed springs, pocketed under compression, have added 12% more firmness. And it is buoyant firmness . . . best for your back, your comfort, your rest.

In torture tests made by the United States Testing Co., Beautyrest lasted 3 times longer than the next best mattress. This means Beautyrest costs least to own. Order yours at once.

$79.50 Normal Firm or Extra Firm Box Spring $79.50

Made only by SIMMONS

Ordinary mattress is made with about 200-300 springs. Wired together, they sag together under your weight. When you push down on one, you push down on all. They're not free to push up and correctly support the shape of your body. This "sagging support" is bad for your back, your comfort, your rest.



Beautyrest mattress is made with over 800 separate springs. Not wired together, they can't sag together. Each is free to push up under you. Together they firmly support the weight and shape of your whole body. In the new Beautyrest springs have been power-packed to give 12% more firmness.

11 Locals—Not 22—Opposed Building Plan

Eleven local unions — not 22 — enacted resolutions seeking a referendum on plans to construct a new headquarters building for the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters.

The figure 22 crept into a Review story Friday by typographical error in relation to the number of locals that sent resolutions to IBOP headquarters seeking a vote of the trade. However, as explained previously, the IBOP executive board ruled out 6 of the 11. At least eight locals must enact such resolutions to force a referendum.

Wellsville Girl Scouts Wait Anniversary Program Sunday

The Wellsville Neighborhood Area Girl Scout celebration for the 48th anniversary of scouting will be held Sunday from 2 to 4 p. m. at McDonald School.

The flag ceremony will be conducted by Dottie Elliott, Linda Thompson, Toby Weekley, Penny Barth and Karen Chema. The Rev. Clark Allison will offer the invocation.

Linda Rolley of Troop 52 will lead the pledge of allegiance; Karen Bunfield, 41, the Brownie Promise, and Naomi Haney, 16, the Girl Scout Promise.

The audience will sing "America."

Joyce Westlake will lead in the greeting song, "Hello."

Mrs. Betty Moore, leader, and Troop 40, will present the songs, "Put My Hand on Myself" and "Rover."

Brownie Troop 76, under the leadership of Mrs. Dorothy Chema, will sing "In a Cottage."

Janet Lewis will give the history of scouting.

Troops 30 and 38 will combine for their songs, "When E're You Make a Promise," "Hiking Song" and "I've Got a Mansion Over the Hilltop." Miss Westlake will be soloist. The troops will also give the scout laws and promise. Leaders are Mrs. James Heaton and Mrs. George Elliott.

"Easter Parade" and "A Good Girl Scout" will be the selections of Troop 21 with Mrs. Shirley Lanam as leader.

Songs by Troop 41 will be "Bunny Song" and "Down by the Station." Mrs. Esther Lanam is leader.

All the troops will sing "Our Chalet" and "Girl Scouts Together," led by Miss Westlake.

Mrs. Pauline Robinson and Troop 16 will give "Song Without Words."

Troop 65 will do "Do Re Me" and "Hi Ho" with Mrs. Mildred Maple leader.

"Trip Around the World" will be presented by Troop 52 with Mrs. Helen Rolley leader.

All the Brownies will sing "The Bear Went Over the Mountain" and "Do My Ears Hang Low."

The program will close with "Taps."

Mrs. George Elliott is neighborhood chairman and Mrs. William Chema and Mrs. Robert Weekley are co - chairmen for the sing.

On Oct. 16, 1940, approximately 16,400,000 men were registered for U.S. Armed Forces under the Selective Service Act.

THE ALL-NEW 1960 BEAUTYREST
...with more buoyant firmness than ever before

New resilience! New firmness! 12% greater spring support! And this newest and most restful of mattresses actually costs least to own!

New power-packed springs, pocketed under compression, have added 12% more firmness. And it is buoyant firmness . . . best for your back, your comfort, your rest.

In torture tests made by the United States Testing Co., Beautyrest lasted 3 times longer than the next best mattress. This means Beautyrest costs least to own. Order yours at once.

$79.50 Normal Firm or Extra Firm Box Spring $79.50

Made only by SIMMONS

Ordinary mattress is made with about 200-300 springs. Wired together, they sag together under your weight. When you push down on one, you push down on all. They're not free to push up and correctly support the shape of your body. This "sagging support" is bad for your back, your comfort, your rest.

Beautyrest mattress is made with over 800 separate springs. Not wired together, they can't sag together. Each is free to push up under you. Together they firmly support the weight and shape of your whole body. In the new Beautyrest springs have been power-packed to give 12% more firmness.

DRINKING DRIVERS ARE GETTING AWAY WITH MURDER!

By HORACE E. CAMPBELL, M.D.

CHAIRMAN, AUTOMOTIVE SAFETY COMMITTEE, COLORADO STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY

Experts can spot a deadly drunk—yet laws still free him

LAST YEAR an estimated 15,000 people were killed and 800,000 injured by drinking drivers. Yet in all but four of our states, unrealistic laws have permitted nearly three-fourths of these drivers to kill without suffering legal penalties. The situation is deplorable. Something drastic must be done soon!

In my home town of Denver, a man whose blood-alcohol tested .20 percent in a chemical analysis struck another car and killed both its occupants. After a year of legal sparring, he was acquitted by a jury because his lawyer cast doubt upon the technical competence of the police chemist. Such things shouldn't happen, yet they do almost daily.

Most states have laws reading something like this: "Any person under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotics who drives any vehicle upon any highway...shall be guilty of a misdemeanor..."

The crucial phrase is "under the influence." When is a driver "under the influence"? How many drinks does it take to make him dangerous?

Somehow, the figure of .15 percent alcohol content in the blood has become ingrained as the edge of intoxication, although it has been proved scientifically that a much lower blood-alcohol content impairs the acuity needed to operate a car safely. Even so, only four states—New York, Kansas, Idaho, and Utah—have laws requiring chemical tests of drivers involved in accidents upon penalty of losing their licenses if they refuse.

Dr. Herman Heise of Milwaukee has made extensive studies of the effects of alcohol. In one study, he gave a group of drivers five ounces of whiskey; in no instance did the blood-alcohol percentage exceed .10. Dr. Heise reported: "With no exception, these subjects were able to pass creditably the ordinary tests used to determine drunkenness and perform adequately routine actions of driving.

"However, there was a definite variation from the normal in actions that had not become a habit, such as avoiding obstacles placed in the road, backing the car, and substituting an unusual action for the one normally used. Reaction times were somewhat increased, and all subjects lacked appreciation of changes in judgment and motor control."

This might be the man approaching you on the highway today. Legally, he isn't "under the influence." But he would be a bad risk, indeed, in an emergency situation.

Numerous other studies have borne out Dr. Heise's conclusions. The Holcomb study in Evanston, Ill., showed that casualty risks began increasing at an alcohol concentration of .05 to .06 percent.

Despite such evidence, highway safety statistics have consistently hidden behind this .15 percent figure in assessing sobriety. The latest National Safety Council figures show that 21 percent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents had been drinking—a figure even council officials admit is low because of the way individual states report their statistics. In contrast, council investigations into holiday accidents show that more than half of the fatalities involve drinking drivers.

What can we do about it? Plenty. For example, I suggest these four simple steps which, if adopted by every state in the nation, would drastically cut highway accidents caused by drinking drivers:

1. We must have legislation which makes it specifically illegal to drive with a blood-alcohol level of .05 percent or more.

2. We should have an "intermediate offense law" which carries an automatic penalty for any driver —whether or not he has been involved in an accident—who has a blood-alcohol level of .05 percent or greater. The new intermediate law with certainty of conviction would make most drivers think twice before taking that second drink.

3. A blood-alcohol test (known as "implied consent" in the four states which now have it) should be mandatory in every traffic accident. The results of this test should be admissible and incontrovertible in court. It can be made easily and accurately.

4. There should be a mandatory jail sentence for all drivers found "under the influence," with no plea of extenuating circumstances permissible.

THE PURPOSE of legislation embracing these four points would be preventive, not punitive. Only by convincing drivers that they will have the book thrown at them if they drink can we get at the evil.

Just a few police patrol cars, equipped with portable kits for the analysis of alcohol on the breath—plus the assurance of an automatic jail sentence for drinking drivers—could dissuade a good many millions of people from drinking before driving.

Education, of course, also is needed. One excellent educational tool is the newly released cartoon film, "Stop Driving Us Crazy," produced by the Methodist Church. It deals with the problem on ethical and moral grounds without being "preachy."

But, in the end, responsibility is a personal thing. Remember, the next time you have two drinks you are not capable of operating a motor car safely, no matter how sober you think you are.

We've been kidding ourselves for years about the seriousness of drunken driving. We can't solve it with new safety slogans or padded statistics. We can solve it only by getting tough with the drunks. And we'd better start doing it soon.

Dr. Heise reported: "With no exception, these subjects were able to pass creditably the ordinary tests used to determine drunkenness and perform adequately routine actions of driving.

"However, there was a definite variation from the normal in actions that had not become a habit, such as avoiding obstacles placed in the road, backing the car, and substituting an unusual action for the one normally used. Reaction times were somewhat increased, and all subjects lacked appreciation of changes in judgment and motor control."

This might be the man approaching you on the highway today. Legally, he isn't "under the influence." But he would be a bad risk, indeed, in an emergency situation.

Numerous other studies have borne out Dr. Heise's conclusions. The Holcomb study in Evanston, Ill., showed that casualty risks began increasing at an alcohol concentration of .05 to .06 percent.

Despite such evidence, highway safety statistics have consistently hidden behind this .15 percent figure in assessing sobriety. The latest National Safety Council figures show that 21 percent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents had been drinking—a figure even council officials admit is low because of the way individual states report their statistics. In contrast, council investigations into holiday accidents show that more than half of the fatalities involve drinking drivers.

What can we do about it? Plenty. For example, I suggest these four simple steps which, if adopted by every state in the nation, would drastically cut highway accidents caused by drinking drivers:

1. We must have legislation which makes it specifically illegal to drive with a blood-alcohol level of .05 percent or more.

2. We should have an "intermediate offense law" which carries an automatic penalty for any driver —whether or not he has been involved in an accident—who has a blood-alcohol level of .05 percent or greater. The new intermediate law with certainty of conviction would make most drivers think twice before taking that second drink.

3. A blood-alcohol test (known as "implied consent" in the four states which now have it) should be mandatory in every traffic accident. The results of this test should be admissible and incontrovertible in court. It can be made easily and accurately.

4. There should be a mandatory jail sentence for all drivers found "under the influence," with no plea of extenuating circumstances permissible.

THE PURPOSE of legislation embracing these four points would be preventive, not punitive. Only by convincing drivers that they will have the book thrown at them if they drink can we get at the evil.

Just a few police patrol cars, equipped with portable kits for the analysis of alcohol on the breath—plus the assurance of an automatic jail sentence for drinking drivers—could dissuade a good many millions of people from drinking before driving.

Education, of course, also is needed. One excellent educational tool is the newly released cartoon film, "Stop Driving Us Crazy," produced by the Methodist Church. It deals with the problem on ethical and moral grounds without being "preachy."

But, in the end, responsibility is a personal thing. Remember, the next time you have two drinks you are not capable of operating a motor car safely, no matter how sober you think you are.

We've been kidding ourselves for years about the seriousness of drunken driving. We can't solve it with new safety slogans or padded statistics. We can solve it only by getting tough with the drunks. And we'd better start doing it soon.

With six children in tow, the distraught mother was trying to get some shopping done at the local supermart. The kids were a problem, handling merchandise, pestering customers, and generally making nuisances of themselves.

Finally she gave up. On her way out, she passed the manager, who shook his head. "Lady," he said, "you'd be better off if you had left at least half of them at home."

She gave the man a withering stare. "I did," she snapped.

Proverbially Speaking

Premier Khrushchev's visit to the United States a few months ago may have lasting effects on the American way of life. Just recently I thought I heard echoes of it in an interview with a 1960 political campaigner:

"Sir, are you in favor of more severe handling of juvenile crime in this state?"

"Well, where I come from we have an old proverb, 'The young snake stings as hard as the old one.' "

"I see. Then you feel a juvenile offense is just as bad as an adult one and should be dealt with as harshly."

"Don't forget the saying, 'To understand the cat, one must first understand the kitten.' "

"Oh, you favor more patience with youngsters . . . I think. Well, anyway, are you in favor of reducing taxes?"

" 'To stay alive, the horse must have hay.' "

"Meaning you can't run a government without taxes, eh? You favor an increase, perhaps?"

"One should not forget the saying, 'Shear the sheep too thin, and it will freeze.' "

"In other words, our economy will collapse if people are taxed too much . . . maybe. How about armament reduction, then? Where do you stand?"

"Remember, 'Pull the lion's fangs and he must perish.' "

"Against it, eh?"

" 'The scorpion can do us no harm without his stinger.' "

"Oh, then . . . well . . . thank you, sir, but I think I'll be going. You know, 'It's a wise puppy that doesn't chase its tail.' "

THIS YEAR'S Kentucky Club Derby Day Contest brings you a golden opportunity to win a colt with top potential. His sire, Hill Prince, was winner of 17 races and $420,000—has sired 12 stake winners. His grandsire, Princequillo, sired Round Table, leading money winner of the world.

Just name this prize colt and he's yours. No need to worry about how you would take care of a race horse—even if you live in an apartment. Kentucky Club pays all expenses for board and training your prize colt by the experienced trainer, L. K. Haggin, at War Horse Place, Lexington, Ky., to July 1, 1960. Later, you can race your prize colt or sell him, as you wish. We hope he will bring you a fortune.

IT'S EASY TO WIN. Awards will be made for the best names for this son of Hill Prince. For example, a name might be Kentucky Hills. Don't send in this name. Think of better ones. Start now. Remember, all six Kentucky Club previous prize race horses have raced and been in the money! This colt may be the greatest yet.

Ted Atkinson, Hall of Fame Jockey, helped select this prize colt

TED SAYS: "This is a great colt—a great contest—and a great line of tobaccos. What's more, switching to a pipe is the wise and satisfying way to enjoy tobacco! It's easy to find your personal pipe tobacco in Kentucky Club's blends. Nine quality brands. All guaranteed fresh. All packaged in moisture-proof Kenseal Pouch that keeps tobacco fresh, mellow and cool-smoking."

CONTEST RULES: 1. In not over 16 letters nor more than three words, write a name for the Kentucky Club prize colt. Count punctuation or space between words as letters. For example, Kentucky Hills counts as 14 letters. Use plain paper or entry blank. Print your name and address.

2. Send as many entries as you like to—

"Kentucky Club Derby Day Contest,"

Each entry must be accompanied by front of outer wrapper from any of Kentucky Club's 9 brands of pipe tobacco: Aromatic Kentucky Club Mixture, London Dock, Whitehall, Brush Creek, Peper's Pouch Mixture, Crosby Square, Donniford, Kentucky Club White Burley, Willoughby Taylor. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, April 11, 1960. No entries returned. All become property of Kentucky Club Division of Mail Pouch Tobacco Co.

3. Prizes will be awarded as listed elsewhere on this page. Entries will be judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation on the basis of originality, aptness of thought and sincerity. Judges' decision final. Duplicate prizes in case of ties. All members of a family may compete, but only one prize to a family.

4. Everyone in United States and possessions or Canada may enter the contest except employees of the manufacturers of Kentucky Club's Tobaccos, its advertising agencies and members of their families. Entries must be the original work of contestant. Contest subject to Federal, State and local regulations.

5. Top winner will be notified in ample time to attend the Derby, other winners will be notified by mail approximately six weeks after close of contest. Prize colt will be presented to winner at Churchill Downs during Derby Day week. If, because of accident or other reason, it is necessary to withdraw the colt described above, another Thoroughbred of comparable value will be awarded. List of winning persons available to those requesting same and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

WHAT MAKES INGO RUN?

Fighter, actor, businessman, lady-killer—

whichever heavyweight champion Johansson wants to be,

he wants to have a good time doing it

By ED FITZGERALD

THE HEAVYWEIGHT champion of the world is a man who likes the good things in life so much that he's willing to fight for his share of them.

Unlike his immediate predecessors, Floyd Patterson and Rocky Marciano, Ingemar Johansson doesn't enjoy—in fact, positively hates—the drudgery of training. But he gets into the ring when he has to because he enjoys what he gets out of it. Ingo (as Americans have dubbed him) loves fine food and drink, expensive clothes, money in the bank, and the admiration of the public—especially that part of the public which is between 21 and 25 years old, beautiful, and female.

Not since the heyday of Madcap Maxie Baer has the heavyweight championship been held by a man so enamored of a good time. Back home in Göteborg, Sweden, Ingo has the reputation of having been a wild youngster; he was a merchant-marine sailor with the seafaring man's traditional liking for a good glass of beer and a companionable girl, and a cheerful willingness to knock a few heads together in a street fight if somebody tried to beat his time with the girl.

Ingo doesn't go in for fighting any more unless he's being paid for it, but otherwise he hasn't changed noticeably since he won the title with his electrifying third-round knockout of Floyd Patterson last June. He simply operates on a grander scale now.

"I never think I would get this far," he says in his surprisingly good English. He has gotten very far indeed. A better businessman than even the vaunted Sugar Ray Robinson, Ingo treats boxing as a side line. He owns and manages a $250,000 construction firm, owns a $100,000 fishing trawler which operates with a crew of eight, is Sweden's leading male clothes model, performs in the movies and on television, sings professionally on records, endorses every conceivable product from tooth paste to sports cars, and, when he finds it absolutely necessary, he turns to boxing.

"He's unbelievable," a young lady who had a few dates with him in New York says. "I simply can't believe he's the heavyweight champion. He looks and acts just like an American college boy. He's got the nicest smile. You can see from his pictures his mouth is a little crooked, and when he smiles, he looks like a little boy. And he's got the biggest dimple on his chin any man ever had. Some girl ought to have that dimple."

WOMEN everywhere react this way to the good-looking 27-year-old Swede. They like the sporty blazers he wears, and the way he keeps humming and singing little snatches of Swedish songs, like the ones he sang on the Dinah Shore show this winter. They like his European manner of ignoring everyone else in the room when he's with a lady, and giving her his undivided attention. They like his frank interest in them and his

A better businessman than even the vaunted Sugar Ray Robinson, Ingo treats boxing as a side line. He owns and manages a $250,000 construction firm, owns a $100,000 fishing trawler which operates with a crew of eight, is Sweden's leading male clothes model, performs in the movies and on television, sings professionally on records, endorses every conceivable product from tooth paste to sports cars, and, when he finds it absolutely necessary, he turns to boxing.

"He's unbelievable," a young lady who had a few dates with him in New York says. "I simply can't believe he's the heavyweight champion. He looks and acts just like an American college boy. He's got the nicest smile. You can see from his pictures his mouth is a little crooked, and when he smiles, he looks like a little boy. And he's got the biggest dimple on his chin any man ever had. Some girl ought to have that dimple."

WOMEN everywhere react this way to the good-looking 27-year-old Swede. They like the sporty blazers he wears, and the way he keeps humming and singing little snatches of Swedish songs, like the ones he sang on the Dinah Shore show this winter. They like his European manner of ignoring everyone else in the room when he's with a lady, and giving her his undivided attention. They like his frank interest in them and his easy confidence that his interest will be reciprocated. And, let's face it, the woman never lived who didn't feel flattered by the knowledge that the handsome fellow taking her out can beat the stuffing out of any other man in the world.

Elaine Sloane, a perky brunette who works for a sports magazine in New York, testifies gigglingly to the celebrated Johansson charm. "I had to deliver a note to him," she says, "and when I got to his hotel he wasn't there, so I made up my mind I'd wait until he showed up. He came in at about 6 o'clock, and he was really very nice to me. He read the note and gave me an answer to take back to my boss, and then, just like that, he took me out to the Stockholm restaurant to make sure I didn't miss my dinner. In fact, he took me out three times that week end. He can really dance up a storm."

Ingo's whirlwind social life isn't inhibited by any legal ties. He was married to a Göteborg girl named Bertha Abramson when he was a boy of 17, but they were divorced after their two children, Jaen, nine, and Thomas, five, were born. Since then, his only attachment has been his somewhat puzzling (to Americans, anyway) semi-engagement to his secretary, pretty Birgit Lundgren. Birgit runs his office for him, travels with him almost everywhere he goes, and never presses him about when or if he intends to marry her.

The striking, 23-year-old, green-eyed brunette came to America with Ingo when he set up training quarters for the Patterson fight, and wherever Ingo went, Birgit went, too. Old-time American boxing men were shocked. They didn't think a man could get ready for a championship fight by living in a millionaire's mansion on the grounds of a famous resort hotel in the company of his mother, his father, his sister Eva, his brothers Rolf and Henry, Rolf's fiancée, Annette, and his own secretary-fiancée. The 18 custom-made suits in his closet made them uneasy, too.

What, they wondered, was this guy training for, anyway, a prize fight or a honeymoon? But in the third round of the big battle at Yankee Stadium, Ingemar let go his destructive right hand, and he convinced them. He convinced everyone.

EVERYBODY knows now that Ingo's one-round knockout of Eddie Machen more than a year ago was no fluke. They know, too, that his disqualification for "not fighting" in his 1952 Olympic bout with big Ed Sanders of the U. S. was a fluke.

"We both wanted to counterpunch," Ingo says. "It was a very bad match." Of course, a lot of fight buffs think Patterson was simply overconfident the first time and was ambushed, and that he'll scientifically chop Ingo to pieces if their return bout comes off as scheduled in late June. Ingo is untroubled. He doesn't like to talk about what he will do and tie-ups of promoters with gangsters and a tangle of other charges and countercharges.

"I like it better," Ingo says wryly, "if it be like back home in Sweden. You shake hands after the fight and you get your money the next day."

Actually, all the revelations about the skullduggery surrounding the Patterson fight have helped Ingo. To the public, he has emerged as the stalwart young Viking who was entrapped by a gang of unprincipled ruffians and yet managed to stay as clean as the proverbial hound's tooth.

DURING the complicated negotiations for the return fight, he has retained this image, every inch the honest businessman, the gentleman, and the sportsman. And while the lawyers and the commissioners argue, Ingo goes right on enjoying life and enjoying being the champion. He looks like a millionaire playboy in his dinner jacket, pleated dress shirt, and fashionably narrow black tie. When he sings with Dinah Shore, he has all the assurance of Pat Boone. When he acts in the movies, as he does in Columbia's forthcoming "All The Young Men" with Alan Ladd, James Darren, and Sidney Poitier, he is so good that the producers expanded his token role into a full-fledged part.

About the only criticism he has ever drawn for one of his acting jobs came after he did Ernest Hemingway's "The Killers" on television. His emoting was so believable it earned the approval of the toughest critics. But his boxing scenes were curiously wooden and uninspired, leading one sportswriter to complain, "Ingo was a real actor on television last night. He even fought like an actor."

When he goes to bed, Ingemar Johansson does his best to make sure it isn't earlier than 3 o'clock in the morning. What with one thing and another, the champ is getting what he wants out of life.

And he'll fight to keep it, too.

I was just thinking...

LONG AFTER most children were riding bicycles, I was still crawling desperately around the floor. Later, when I finally got the hang of walking, I went on to become an outstanding failure at roller skating, ice skating, horsemanship, and archery.

Even ordinary household activities throw me. Literally. The other night, for example, I rose from my bed to open a window. This is not listed among participation sports. Window opening is not included in physical education or even praised when accomplished.

But I walked into the side of the door and almost tore one ear off. I never made it to the window.

Even the art of sleeping is difficult for me. I suffer more from posture than from insomnia. Lying in bed might seem a simple enough condition to most. Not to me. There is still a scar on my ankle as a memento of the night I turned over and cut myself with the nail from a toe on the other foot.

Most days I rise up screaming because I have slept with my head tucked under my arm and wrenched my neck.

It takes courage, not skill, to visit the dentist. With me, it takes both. When the time came, my dentist strapped me down, called the vigilantes, and drilled for an hour. He is a young man with a firm grip, else I might have fallen out of the chair. I did fall, of course, on the way home. That was the day I also attempted to re-cover a chair and pounded a nail in a nail I had already—on my finger.

It's gratifying that I survive so well. Nothing really drastic has yet befallen me, although the toe which I stubbed twice in 30 minutes on the same corner of the davenport six months ago is still sore. I am a patchwork of fading bruises and healing scars, but I am whole and hearty.

But my first employer's forecast continues to haunt me. After he'd hired me, he commented, "I have a feeling she's the sort of girl things happen to." Right away I began proving it. Two weeks later, I was in a train wreck.

FARMER'S SUNDAY CAKE

GOOD FOR FREEZING

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 30–35 MIN.

- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 1¼ teaspoons baking soda
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
- ¾ cup sugar
- 2 eggs, well beaten (until thick and piled softly)
- 1 cup buttermilk
- 1 cup golden raisins
- ¼ cup diced assorted candied fruits
- ⅓ cup (about 15) chopped green maraschino cherries, drained

1. Grease bottoms only of two 8-in. round layer cake pans; line with waxed paper cut to fit bottoms; grease waxed paper.

2. Sift flour and baking soda together.

3. Cream butter, extract, and lemon peel together until butter is softened. Add sugar gradually, creaming until fluffy after each addition. Add beaten eggs in thirds to creamed mixture, beating well after each addition.

4. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and buttermilk in thirds to the creamed mixture. Finally, beat only until smooth (do not overbeat).

5. Mix fruit together and blend mixture into batter. Turn batter into prepared cake pans.

6. Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until a cake tester or wooden pick comes out clean when inserted in center of cake. Invert onto cooling rack; remove waxed paper, and turn cake, right side up. Cool completely.

7. When cooled, fill and frost cake with Lemon Butter Frosting. If desired, decorate with green cherries. (See photo.)

One 8-in. round layer cake

For Lemon Butter Frosting—Cream together ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel until butter is softened. Add 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and beat until of spreading consistency.

IRISH SODA BREAD

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. TO BAKE: 35–40 MIN.

- 4 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup currants, plumped and drained
- ½ cup white vinegar
- 1 cup milk

1. Sift flour, baking soda, salt, and sugar together into a mixing bowl. Cut in the butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Lightly mix in the currants.

2. Combine vinegar and milk. Add half of the liquid to dry ingredients; blend quickly. Add remaining liquid and stir only until blended.

3. Turn dough onto floured surface. Lightly knead dough about 10 times and shape into a round loaf (see photo). Place on greased baking sheet.

4. Bake at 375°F 35 to 40 min. Serve hot with whipped butter. 8 to 10 servings

Note: For extra flavor appeal, add 1 tablespoon grated orange peel when currants are added to the bread.

GAELIC LAMB STEW

This stew is thinner in consistency than is customary. However, served in individual shallow bowls, the combination of well-seasoned broth with lamb and colorful vegetables makes a pleasing and hearty main dish.

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO COOK: ABOUT 1 HR.

- 2 lbs. boneless lamb shoulder, cut in 1-in. cubes
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon black pepper
- ½ teaspoon Accent
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 1 qt. water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 medium-size bay leaves
- 2 1-lb. cans green peas
- 3 cups diced potatoes
- 1½ cups small whole white onions
- 1½ cups sliced carrots

1. Coat lamb with a mixture of the flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and Accent. Heat fat in a large heavy sauce pot or kettle. Add meat and brown on all sides.

2. Add water, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and the bay leaves to sauce pot. Cover and bring mixture to boiling; reduce heat to simmering and cook 30 min., stirring occasionally. (A few whole allspice may be added.)

3. Drain peas, reserving liquid. Add the pea liquid, potatoes, onions, and carrots to lamb mixture. Cover and again bring to boiling; reduce heat and cook slowly for 30 min., or until vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally.

4. Add peas to mixture and heat thoroughly.

About 8 servings

MOLDED PINEAPPLE-VEGETABLE LOAF

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO CHILL: 4–5 HRS.

- 1 1-lb., 14-oz. can (about 8 slices) pineapple, drained (reserve sirup)
- 1 No. 2 can (about 2½ cups) unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 pkgs. lemon-flavored gelatin
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 2 cups shredded cabbage
- 1 cup shredded carrots
- 3 oz. (1 pkg.) cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon cream
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives

1. Add enough pineapple juice to reserved sirup to make 2 cups. Heat until very hot.

2. Empty the gelatin into a bowl. Add the hot pineapple liquid and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in 1½ cups pineapple juice and the lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture is slightly thicker than thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.

3. Lightly oil a 9½ x 5¼ x 2¾-in. loaf pan with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.

4. Mix softened cream cheese and cream together. Stir in the chopped olives. Shape mixture into eight balls; fit one ball in center of each pineapple ring, pressing it into place. Arrange two slices on bottom of pan, two slices on each side, and one on each end.

5. Stir cabbage and carrots into slightly thickened gelatin mixture; turn mixture into pan. Chill until firm. Unmold. About 12 servings

4. Beating only until smooth after each addition, alternately add dry ingredients in fourths and buttermilk in thirds to the creamed mixture. Finally, beat only until smooth (do not overbeat).

5. Mix fruit together and blend mixture into batter. Turn batter into prepared cake pans.

6. Bake at 350°F 30 to 35 min., or until a cake tester or wooden pick comes out clean when inserted in center of cake. Invert onto cooling rack; remove waxed paper, and turn cake, right side up. Cool completely.

7. When cooled, fill and frost cake with Lemon Butter Frosting. If desired, decorate with green cherries. (See photo.)

One 8-in. round layer cake

For Lemon Butter Frosting—Cream together ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, and 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel until butter is softened. Add 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice and beat until of spreading consistency.

IRISH SODA BREAD

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. TO BAKE: 35–40 MIN.

- 4 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup currants, plumped and drained
- ½ cup white vinegar
- 1 cup milk

1. Sift flour, baking soda, salt, and sugar together into a mixing bowl. Cut in the butter with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Lightly mix in the currants.

2. Combine vinegar and milk. Add half of the liquid to dry ingredients; blend quickly. Add remaining liquid and stir only until blended.

3. Turn dough onto floured surface. Lightly knead dough about 10 times and shape into a round loaf (see photo). Place on greased baking sheet.

4. Bake at 375°F 35 to 40 min. Serve hot with whipped butter. 8 to 10 servings

Note: For extra flavor appeal, add 1 tablespoon grated orange peel when currants are added to the bread.

Where Celebrities Get Deflated

President Eisenhower was principal speaker at the 50th anniversary of the National Press Club.

By LUCIAN C. WARREN

ON HIS CELEBRATED VISIT to Washington, D. C., self-confident Nikita Khrushchev got the red-carpet treatment from the cop on the beat as well as from the President of the United States.

Then he appeared as speaker before the National Press Club of Washington, obviously expecting the same kid-glove treatment. What a shock for jovial Nikita!

"What were you doing when Stalin was committing the crimes you chose to denounce only after he died?" Khrushchev was asked by club president William H. Lawrence immediately after the speech.

"A provocative question!" Nikita exploded. "Malicious rumors and lies!"

Asked a moment later to justify Russia's armed intervention in Hungary, Khrushchev sneered that this "stuck in some people's throats like a dead rat," but made no real effort at justification. Some eight questions later, Khrushchev himself abruptly terminated the question period after floundering on a requested explanation for his "We will bury you" remark. Nothing "physical," just "historical," he explained as he beat a retreat.

Khrushchev needn't have sulked about his treatment by the Press Club. VIP-baiting is the members' favorite sport. This brashness has helped build an improvident group, founded in 1908 by some gregarious newsmen, into the largest and richest club of its kind.

Its 4,700 members, cream of the news-gathering world and allied professions, own the tallest and largest private office building in the capital. Meetings are held in the luxurious top-floor quarters (rent-free) of the $12-million building.

Impertinence was the order of the day long before Khrushchev appeared on the scene. Just a few weeks before Vice President Harry S. Truman succeeded Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Presidency in 1945, Truman played the piano at the club's wartime canteen for servicemen. Movie actress Lauren Bacall happened to appear and was hoisted atop the piano. As she posed cross-legged and a flustered Truman continued playing, photographers did what comes naturally, resulting in the most widely published Washington picture since a midget sat on J. P. Morgan's lap.

Ten years later, members were told that a prominent "mystery guest" would perform that evening. When the strains of the "Missouri Waltz" came floating through closed curtains, club members looked at each other knowingly, exclaiming: "Ah, Harry Truman's in town again."

Instead, it was Vice President Richard Nixon making his Washington debut as a piano player. To add spice to the occasion, a somewhat reluctant House Speaker Sam Rayburn and an equally reticent Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson were persuaded to join Nixon around the piano in a few bars of bipartisan harmony.

Delighted to learn of Nixon's avocation, the club later invited Truman and Nixon to play a piano duet under club auspices.

SHURE 'N' IT'S FOINE FOOD

As traditional as the shamrock are Gaelic Lamb Stew, Soda Bread, and Farmer's Sunday Cake, which readily make themselves at home on an American table. With the addition of a colorful and gay molded salad (to round out the menu), these Irish dishes will put a bit of that famous Irish charm into your St. Patrick's Day dinner.

GAELIC LAMB STEW

Is thinner in consistency than is customary, however, served in individual shallow bowls, a combination of well-seasoned broth and colorful vegetables makes a tasty and hearty main dish.

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO COOK: ABOUT 1 HR.

- 2 lbs. boneless lamb shoulder, cut in 1-in. cubes
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon Accent
- 2 tablespoons fat
- 2 qts. water
- 1 tablespoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 medium-size bay leaves
- 1 10-oz. can green peas
- 2 cups diced potatoes
- 2 cups small whole white onions
- 2 cups sliced carrots

Rub lamb with a mixture of the flour, 2 teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, and Accent. In a large heavy sauce pot or kettle, heat fat and brown on all sides.

Add water, 1 tablespoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and the bay leaves to sauce pot. Cover and bring mixture to boiling; reduce heat to simmer and cook 30 min., stirring occasionally. (A few whole allspice may be added.)

Drain peas, reserving liquid. Add the pea liquid, potatoes, onions, and carrots to lamb mixture. Cover and again bring to boiling; reduce heat and cook slowly for 30 min., or until lamb and vegetables are tender, stirring occasionally.

Add peas to mixture and heat thoroughly.

About 8 servings

MOLDED PINEAPPLE-VEGETABLE LOAF

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO CHILL: 4–5 HRS.

- 1 1-lb., 14-oz. can (about 8 slices) pineapple, drained (reserve sirup)
- 1 No. 2 can (about 2½ cups) unsweetened pineapple juice
- 2 pkgs. lemon-flavored gelatin
- ½ cup lemon juice
- 2 cups shredded cabbage
- 1 cup shredded carrots
- 3 oz. (1 pkg.) cream cheese, softened
- 1 tablespoon cream
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives

1. Add enough pineapple juice to reserved sirup to make 2 cups. Heat until very hot.

2. Empty the gelatin into a bowl. Add the hot pineapple liquid and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in 1½ cups pineapple juice and the lemon juice. Chill in refrigerator or over ice and water until mixture is slightly thicker than thick, unbeaten egg white. If chilled in refrigerator, stir occasionally; if chilled over ice and water, stir frequently.

3. Lightly oil a 9½ x 5¼ x 2¾-in. loaf pan with salad or cooking oil (not olive oil); set aside to drain.

4. Mix softened cream cheese and cream together. Stir in the chopped olives. Shape mixture into eight balls; fit one ball in center of each pineapple ring, pressing it into place. Arrange two slices on bottom of pan, two slices on each side, and one on each end.

5. Stir cabbage and carrots into slightly thickened gelatin mixture; turn mixture into pan. Chill until firm. Unmold. About 12 servings

EUREKA WILLIAMS CORPORATION, BLOOMINGTON, ILLINOIS

Sharp questions of American reporters needled Premier Khrushchev when he spoke at Press Club during his U. S. tour.

Most famous photograph taken at Press Club showed Lauren Bacall inspiring a well-known amateur pianist to strike up "Missouri Waltz."

Khrushchev exploded, Truman was flustered — just two examples of VIPs who found the seat of honor a hot one at the National Press Club

Nixon was willing, but Truman refused, telling the club members he'd be durned if he'd rub shoulders with "that man," even on a piano bench.

British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery's imperious ways were recalled in his presence by an introduction which related a supposed wartime conversation between a British chief of staff and King George VI. Club president Ted Koop quoted the chief of staff as saying: "I am rather afraid Monty is after my job," to which the King replied: "I am delighted to hear it. I was afraid he was after mine."

PRESS CLUB spoofing is bipartisan in nature. In 1956, club president Frank Holeman tagged Ike's Secretary of Defense, Charles E. Wilson, as "one of the few men who have earned more money in one year than Betty Grable," adding: "He didn't do it with his legs, either, although he is pretty agile. His friends say that it's over a year now since he put his foot in his mouth."

The same year, Holeman described Averell Harriman, then New York's millionaire governor of New York: "It may be hard to think of our speaker as a self-made man, but he is. He just started at a different place. Very few men with his beginning ever got to where he is today. It was a real downhill struggle."

With Khrushchev, President Lawrence took no more liberties in his introduction than to suggest the club was happy to take him out of the kitchen and into the ballroom, a reference to the famous Nixon-Khrushchev debate at the U. S. model-home exhibit in Moscow.

Lawrence dealt much less gently a few months earlier with Everett McKinley Dirksen, Senate minority leader, who opposed Ike's nomination in 1952. Noting that Dirksen's father had been a great fan of President William McKinley, Lawrence remarked with accurate candor: "As a matter of fact, our speaker didn't get McKinley as his middle name until 11 months after he was born, which was about as belated as his conversion to Eisenhower Republicanism."

If anyone carries any grudges about the club, he would do well to consider how Presidents of the United States are treated. The club once levied a $5 penalty on Franklin D. Roosevelt for late payment of dues. When Dwight D. Eisenhower received his membership card last year, he observed somewhat wistfully:

"I understand—possibly erroneously, but I hope it is true—that members of the press deal gently with their members. So I hope possession of this card gives me a certain immunity that, up to the moment, has not been mine." When the Press Club members subsequently grilled him for an even longer period than Khrushchev and with questions of similar tough caliber, it became perfectly obvious that the President of the United States had no such immunity.

It is even rumored that one problem Ike and Khrushchev failed to settle was: "Who fared worse at the National Press Club?"

Who's Who! By Frances W. Keene

Here is a good party game. Write the names of famous people on slips of paper, and pin one to the back of each guest. By asking questions of each other that can be answered "Yes" or "No," the players try to find out who they are. You might say, "Am I a man?" . . . "Am I old?" . . . "Do I sing?" Ask only one question to a person, then go to another. You may return, if necessary, to ask more questions. Have people be presidents, baseball players, musicians, or famous characters from history, such as Betsy Ross, Daniel Boone, and King Arthur.

WAKE UP RARIN' TO GO

Without Nagging Backache

Now! You can get the fast relief you need from nagging backache, headache and muscular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings. When these discomforts come on with over-exertion or stress and strain—you want relief—want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink—often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

Doan's Pills work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headaches, muscular aches and pains. 2. by soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Now, large size saves money. Get Doan's Pills today!

Who's Who! By Frances W. Keene

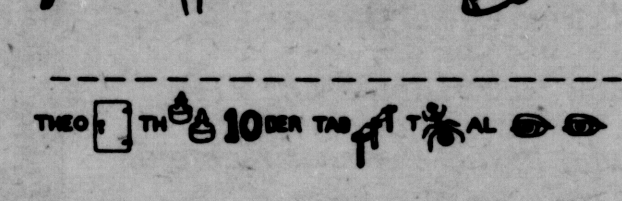
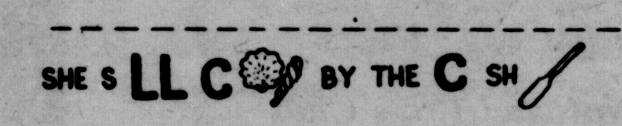
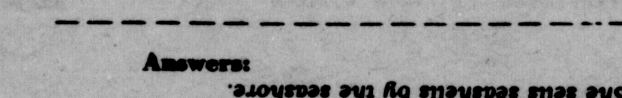
Here is a good party game. Write the names of famous people on slips of paper, and pin one to the back of each guest. By asking questions of each other that can be answered "Yes" or "No," the players try to find out who they are. You might say, "Am I a man?" . . . "Am I old?" . . . "Do I sing?" Ask only one question to a person, then go to another. You may return, if necessary, to ask more questions. Have people be presidents, baseball players, musicians, or famous characters from history, such as Betsy Ross, Daniel Boone, and King Arthur.

Rebus Tongue Twisters

By Frances W. Keene







Answers:

She sells seashells by the seashore.
Theodore thinks tender tadpoles tantalize.
Seven shiny spiders spun shoelaces.

A Jigsaw Jingle

By I. M. Perdue

To make yourself a jigsaw
Puzzle isn't hard.
Use the cover from an Old, used greeting card;
Cut it into pieces—
Maybe six—and then
Try your luck at making
The picture whole again.

Riddle Corner

1. Why is a seed like a torn coat?
2. What did the hat say to the rack?
3. What kind of paper should boys use to make a glider?
4. How can you make a slow child fast?
5. Why is a person who is hot-tempered like an onion?

Answers:

1. Because they both need sewing.
2. "You stay here, I'm going on ahead."
3. Fly paper.
4. Stop feeding him.
5. He's often in a stew.

ZSA ZSA'S BUSY DAY

By MARGARET BELL

In which we follow the beautiful movie queen (at jet-like speed) through a day as madly unpredictable as she is

SPENDING one entire day with Zsa Zsa Gabor, this reporter discovered, is like spinning around on a carousel. There's a blur of hundreds of people, plus television cameras, cluttered dressing rooms, cars darting in and out of traffic, and through it all the image of Zsa Zsa, unruffled and beautiful, chattering away on a variety of subjects ranging from her superstitions ("Never put your hat on my bed, darling") to her housekeeping ("I'm a wonderful housekeeper: every time I'm divorced, I keep the house").

On this particular day, Zsa Zsa was staying at ex-husband Conrad Hilton's Plaza Hotel in New York. Soon after she awoke at 9 a.m., famed hair stylist Enrico Caruso and an assistant were busily arranging her blonde tresses that won her the title of the woman with the world's best-dressed hair. As they worked, Zsa Zsa wore out the phone talking with agents, producers, managers, publicity men, and suitors.

Just as we were settling down, she chose a Dior dress from a bulging wardrobe, decided on the mink to go with it ("I don't know how many minks I own, darling; sweet men are always giving them to me"), and within five minutes she was dashing to the elevator, trailed by a puffing entourage.

We rushed to a radio studio for a five-minute recording, back to the hotel and out again to walk her toy Yorkshire terrier, Mr. Magoo, back to the hotel while Caruso arranged a jet-black wig which she had selected, then to a television studio where she taped an appearance on the Jack Paar Show with only a 15-minute interval before an ensuing stint on Dick Clark's "World of Talent." Somehow, within those 15 minutes, she managed to travel 20 blocks uptown in a chauffeured limousine, change dresses, doff the black wig for a shimmering silver one, and have 30 seconds left over before the Clark show started.

Somewhere along the line we had picked up Gerold Frank, who is ghostwriting her autobiography. We were more than happy to let him take up her life story while we went home to bed. It's too much to ask one reporter to make it through a whole day with Zsa Zsa.

With chameleon-like magic, she changes her costume and her wig, silver this time, only seconds before she is to go on Dick Clark's "World of Talent" show, proving once more that a beauty in any guise is still a beauty.

Discreetly watching with the observant eye of a top ghost writer, Gerold Frank gathers notes for what's certain to be a fabulous autobiography.

Morning finds Zsa Zsa's hairdresser, Enrico Caruso, arranging her lovely blonde tresses. The coiffure complete, she covers it with a hat—aren't women marvelous?—and takes her toy terrier for a stroll.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY SAM SHAW

For taping an appearance on Jack Paar's show (before his row with N. B. C.), she dons a black wig.

Married women are sharing this secret

... the new, easier, surer protection for those most intimate marriage problems

What a blessing to be able to trust in the wonderful germicidal protection Norforms can give you. Norforms have a highly perfected new formula that releases antiseptic and germicidal ingredients with long-lasting action. The exclusive new base melts at body temperature, forming a powerful protective film that guards (but will not harm) the delicate tissues.

And Norforms' deodorant protection has been tested in a hospital clinic and found to be more effective than anything it had ever used. Norforms eliminate (rather than cover up) embarrassing odors, yet have no "medicine" or "disinfectant" odor themselves.

And what convenience! These small feminine suppositories are so easy and convenient to use. Just insert—no apparatus, mixing or measuring. They're greaseless and they keep in any climate.

Now available in new packages of 6, as well as 12 and 24. Also available in Canada.

Tested by doctors . . . trusted by women . . . proved in hospital clinics

STOP OILY SKIN TO CHECK PIMPLES!

Don't pick, scratch, squeeze or merely "cover them up"

Doctors know that acne or pimples are caused by the germ called the acne bacillus. These germs invade overactive oil glands in the skin, cause blackheads and pus pockets; then your skin "breaks out."

What's needed is (1) to dry up the excessive oil that collects on skin; (2) to destroy acne germs on the skin, and (3) to stop itching and irritation so pimples can heal.

A doctor's formula, liquid Zemo has this effective 3-way action; also keeps skin looking cleaner!

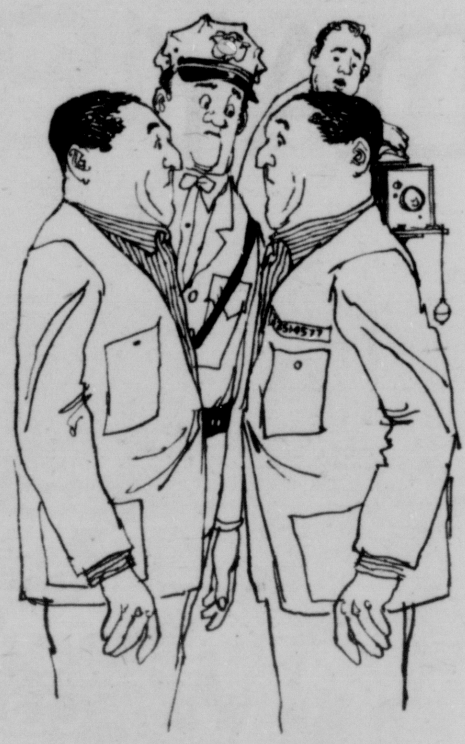
MYSTERY

Double Trouble

Nature created a mystery that baffled prison authorities; its solution helped speed a vital tool of modern criminology

By WILLIAM T. BRANNON



ILLUSTRATED BY JOHN HUEHNERGARTH

THE IDENTIFICATION OFFICER at Leavenworth (Kans.) Federal Penitentiary stared at the prisoner a moment, then looked quizzically at the guard.

"Yes?" he inquired.

"New prisoner," the guard said. "I brought him so you can take measurements and pictures."

"But I've already taken care of that."

"You have?" The guard looked surprised. "When?"

"Almost two years ago."

"Must be some mistake. This man has only been in two days." He glanced at the committal papers. "It says right here it's his first offense."

"Well, that's not right. I distinctly remember photographing him. You're sure he's been here only two days?"

"Yes. I locked him in the cell myself."

The identification officer turned to the prisoner. "What happened? Did you escape and get sent back for something else?"

"I've never been here before," the prisoner said. "You've got me mixed up with somebody else. This is my first offense."

He made the usual full-face and profile shots, then took various measurements. "What's your name?"

"George Moss."

"Same as it was last time!" the officer exclaimed. "You're doing life for murder."

The guard spoke up: "The papers say five years for larceny."

Angry now, the officer strode to the files and dug out a record card and a picture, which he held in front of the prisoner. "Do you deny that's you?"

"It sure looks like me," the prisoner admitted. "But it can't be because I was never here before."

The officer laid the record beside the one he had just completed. "Look at these."

The prisoner did. They were identical, except that the offense on one was murder, on the other larceny, and the two crimes had been committed in widely separated places.

"Do you still deny you were here before?" the officer demanded.

"Yes. The picture looks like me and the measurements are the same as mine. But I wasn't here. I don't know how it happened."

Impatiently, the identification officer sent for the warden, who glanced at the prisoner, then looked at the guard.

"Why have you brought Moss here?" the warden asked.

"This is a new prisoner, sir. Just came in two days ago."

"That's a mistake. This man has been here almost two years."

The prisoner squirmed. "Somebody's wrong," he said. "Maybe there's a fellow that looks like me. Maybe he's still here."

"We'll see." The warden summoned a guard to find out if Moss, the lifer, was still in his cell.

He returned in a few minutes. With him was a prisoner who might have been the other's twin.

FOR SEVERAL MOMENTS, they stared at each other in astonishment. It was as if each was looking in a mirror.

Then they compared notes. They had never met before, had not lived in the same section of the country, and were not related.

Having two identical prisoners posed a serious problem for the warden. There was always the chance of a mix-up, the danger that the lifer might be freed at the expiration of the other's five-year term.

Each man was photographed and measured again. There were only fractional differences between them.

Then they were fingerprinted. Despite their close resemblance in all other respects, their fingerprints were entirely different. Their identities were definitely established.

This event took place in August, 1903. Fingerprinting was a new art, and it had not been widely accepted.

But the incident of the identical inmates was one of several unusual cases that led to acceptance of fingerprints as the only infallible means of identification.

ZSA ZSA'S BUSY DAY

By MARGARET BELL

In which we follow the beautiful movie queen (at jet-like speed) through a day as madly unpredictable as she is

SPENDING one entire day with Zsa Zsa Gabor, this reporter discovered, is like spinning around on a carousel. There's a blur of hundreds of people, plus television cameras, cluttered dressing rooms, cars darting in and out of traffic, and through it all the image of Zsa Zsa, unruffled and beautiful, chattering away on a variety of subjects ranging from her superstitions ("Never put your hat on my bed, darling") to her housekeeping ("I'm a wonderful housekeeper: every time I'm divorced, I keep the house").

On this particular day, Zsa Zsa was staying at ex-husband Conrad Hilton's Plaza Hotel in New York. Soon after she awoke at 9 a.m., famed hair stylist Enrico Caruso and an assistant were busily arranging her blonde tresses that won her the title of the woman with the world's best-dressed hair. As they worked, Zsa Zsa wore out the phone talking with agents, producers, managers, publicity men, and suitors.

Just as we were settling down, she chose a Dior dress from a bulging wardrobe, decided on the mink to go with it ("I don't know how many minks I own, darling; sweet men are always giving them to me"), and within five minutes she was dashing to the elevator, trailed by a puffing entourage.

We rushed to a radio studio for a five-minute recording, back to the hotel and out again to walk her toy Yorkshire terrier, Mr. Magoo, back to the hotel while Caruso arranged a jet-black wig which she had selected, then to a television studio where she taped an appearance on the Jack Paar Show with only a 15-minute interval before an ensuing stint on Dick Clark's "World of Talent." Somehow, within those 15 minutes, she managed to travel 20 blocks uptown in a chauffeured limousine, change dresses, doff the black wig for a shimmering silver one, and have 30 seconds left over before the Clark show started.

Somewhere along the line we had picked up Gerold Frank, who is ghostwriting her autobiography. We were more than happy to let him take up her life story while we went home to bed. It's too much to ask one reporter to make it through a whole day with Zsa Zsa.

With chameleon-like magic, she changes her costume and her wig, silver this time, only seconds before she is to go on Dick Clark's "World of Talent" show, proving once more that a beauty in any guise is still a beauty.

Discreetly watching with the observant eye of a top ghost writer, Gerold Frank gathers notes for what's certain to be a fabulous autobiography.

Morning finds Zsa Zsa's hairdresser, Enrico Caruso, arranging her lovely blonde tresses. The coiffure complete, she covers it with a hat—aren't women marvelous?—and takes her toy terrier for a stroll.
